

Missile Launcher Hit by U. S. Jets In North Viet Nam

5 American Planes Lost in Air Raids During Weekend

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, southwest of Hanoi. The pilots (AP) — U.S. jets smashed a Soviet-supplied missile launcher in North Viet Nam over the weekend, but five American planes were lost in other raids on the Communist north, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

Four of the American airmen were presumed captured and two others were killed when three Navy planes were lost Sunday 40 miles north of Hanoi, the spokesman said. Two U.S. fighters were listed as missing after two Air Force jets were lost Saturday on a raid southwest of Hanoi.

Peking broadcasts claimed seven U.S. planes were downed and several pilots captured in North Viet Nam, which has threatened to try captured American pilots as war criminals.

Eight Tons

Four A4 Sky Hawks and an A6 Intruder from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Independence hit the mobile anti-aircraft missile unit with eight tons of bombs. Pilots said they left a missile smoking on the ground and launchers and 10 vehicles in flames. The missiles, supplied by the Soviet Union, are believed accompanied by Soviet technicians. There was no mention of personnel casualties at the site, 52 miles northeast of Hanoi.

U.S. aircraft are known to be hunting at least five of the mobile missile units, which can be assembled or dismantled within 24 hours.

The Defense Department says five U.S. planes have been knocked down by Soviet-supplied missiles. Launchers are permanently installed around Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

Ground Fire

Pilots on the missile raid reported heavy ground fire but all five planes returned safely, a spokesman said.

However, heavy Communist ground fire knocked down two F4 Phantoms from the Independence and a third crashed into a mountain side during a 16-plane strike against a highway bridge north of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

Returning pilots said four of the American parachuted and were seen on the ground. Enemy troops were spotted in the area.

U.S. briefing officers said Communist ground fire downed one F105 Thunderchief and another disappeared during a four-plane raid Saturday 70 miles

Berlin Youth Dies in Crash With Truck

Ronald Johnson, 19, Killed Outright; State Counts 8

A Berlin youth, Ronald C. Johnson, 19, was killed when the car he was driving collided with a semi-trailer truck on State 21 about 2:30 a.m. today.

Johnson is the 15th traffic fatality in Winnebago County this year, was one of eight who died in traffic in the state, and raised the state death count for the year to 793 compared with 860 one year ago.

Winnebago County police said the accident occurred one and one-half miles east of Omro as Johnson was heading west and the truck, being driven by Gordon F. Larsen, 44, route 4, Waupaca, was headed east.

Police said the impact occurred in the truck's lane of traffic.

Killed Outright

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said Johnson was killed outright and died of a severe skull fracture. Larsen told authorities he was almost stopped when the car crashed into his cab. He said he thought the car would go into a farm field as it was on the shoulder of the road, but then it suddenly crossed in front of him and hit the truck headon.

D. Y. Beach, 27, Madison, was killed Sunday night when his car and another automobile collided on Highway 12, north of Middleton, a Madison suburb. Beach was alone in his car. Four persons in the other automobile were injured.

Marvin Wickstrom, 43, St. Paul, Minn., died Saturday night when the car in which he was riding struck a bridge near Bruce in Rusk County.

Five persons, all 21 years old or younger, became victims in the early hours of the weekend. Edward Bliefernicht Jr., 19, of Watertown, and Thomas G. Ruder, 21, Oconomowoc, were killed early Saturday when Bliefernicht's car overturned on Highway 26 near Watertown.

James E. Kawalske, 18, Wisconsin Rapids, was killed Friday night when the car in which he was a passenger hit a tree along a Wood County road.

Miss Elona Tuchalski, 19, Milwaukee, was injured fatally Friday night when the car in which she was riding veered off a rural road near Elkhorn.

Harvey W. Johnson, 18, Denmark, died Friday night in the collision of his car and a freight train in Denmark.

Murder Victim Was Beaten, Autopsy Says

Winnebago County and Oshkosh police search the shore near the scene where the unidentified body of an 18-19-year-old youth was found Saturday afternoon. The police were looking for a possible site where rocks may have been taken and used in the slaying. The youth, the first autopsy report showed, had been beaten, bound and placed in the lake with a 30-pound stone tied around his ankles. From left are Sheriff Department Lt. Richard Guenther, Oshkosh Police Sgt. Earl Disch and Sheriff Department Sgt. Wilbur Fuller. Investigation was continuing today. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Man Found in Winnebago Still Unidentified; List Age at Between 18 and 19

BY DOUG KOPLIEN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — First autopsy reports on the nude man found early Saturday afternoon floating in Lake Winnebago indicate 29 and who could fit the description of the body which was found.

Art C. Miller, Winnebago County coroner, said the report showed the youth had taken a beating around the head with a blunt instrument. He did not discount the possibility of fists being the instrument.

Winnebago County Sheriff Department Lt. Richard Guenther said muck and water were found in the victim's lungs and determination as to whether the cause of death was the beating or drowning still is pending. The youth, Miller said, was about six feet four and one-half inches tall and weighed about 207 pounds. He had sandy or blond hair, he stated.

Lt. Guenther said his office is investigating disappearance of Stephen Walter Kappell, 18, who disappeared from Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh Sept. 29 and who could fit the description of the body which was found.

Kappell was a freshman student and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kappell, 1017 Hillcrest Drive, Kaukauna. He graduated from Kaukauna High School in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Kappell viewed the body when it was at Winnebago State Hospital but were unable to confirm or deny its identity as that of their son. Authorities also are checking on a Milwaukee man, Dennis Edgerton, 22, who has been missing since Sept. 18 and was last seen getting into a car with an unidentified woman at the Milwaukee station.

Miller said the autopsy showed two blackened eyes, hemorrhaging of both sides of the head and jaw, deep bruises on the back of the head and the front of the neck and bruises on the chest and above the right wrist.

Divers at Scene

The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Helen Young of the Milwaukee Medical Examiner's Board Sunday.

Lt. Guenther said skindivers on the scene Saturday afternoon did not turn up anything but investigations in the area, on the northeastern part of the city near the breakwater at Miller's Point, will continue.

Authorities have indicated it could not be "anything but a murder." The body was weighted down by a 12-inch diameter stone which weighed about 30 pounds, they said.

Lt. Guenther said Dr. Young had indicated she was unable to determine how long the body had been in the water because there have been bodies which have decomposed more than this one after only three or four

Klansman on Trial Again in Rights Killing

Attorney General Will Prosecute Hayneville Case

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) —

A Ku Klux Klansman accused of killing civil rights worker Viola Liuzzo goes on trial again today with a new prosecutor and a new defense attorney.

State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, who had announced earlier that he was taking over the prosecution of Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., reaffirmed that decision on the eve of the trial. He said he planned to handle the prosecution, rather than through an assistant.

He notified the regular prosecutor, Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., by letter that Gamble had been removed from the case for refusing to agree to a postponement.

Local Pressure

In Washington Sunday in a television interview, Flowers said he had taken charge of the trial because he would not be subject to "local political pressure."

The attorney general, invoking a provision in Alabama law which gives him jurisdiction as the state's chief attorney, took over the Wilkins case last month.

At the same time, he took over Gamble's duties in the trial of special Deputy Sheriff Thomas L. Coleman in another civil rights slaying and asked Judge T. Werth Thagard to postpone both cases.

Thagard refused, and, in swift succession, ousted the attorney against Communists suspected of taking part in the Sept. 30-reinstated Gamble as the prosecutor.

Coleman, charged with manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of Jonathan Daniels, a Keene, N.H., seminary student, was acquitted on a self-defense plea.

Some Motives Questioned

Demonstration Promoters Are Pleased With Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Promoters of organized Viet Nam protests say they are pleased with the results of the weekend demonstrations, but life — are questioning the motives of some of the marchers.

A survey shows the latter ask, in effect: Are some just trying to get out of the draft? And if they are sincere, are they being misled by Communists and Communist sympathizers?

Frank Emspak, chairman of the National Coordinating Committee to End the War in Viet Nam, said Sunday in Madison, Wis., that more than 70,000 persons took part in Saturday's demonstrations in scores of cities.

Emspak said he has started planning for another series of nationwide demonstrations on Nov. 6 or Nov. 13.

Soldier's Comments
In Saigon, Spec. 4 Russell D. Miller of Manassas, Va., told newsmen: "I think the demonstrators are crazy."

"I don't think they know what they are talking about. I don't like it over here, but it's my Conn., to Hawaii, were noisy but duty as a soldier to be here."

U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, in Chicago Sunday

the night, said the Justice Department has begun an investigation into the movement and has uncovered "some Communists and some persons very closely associated with Communists" working for the Students for a Democratic Society.

"Whenever you have a situation in which people are saying things similar to what is being said by Peking, you are likely to find some Communists involved in it," Katzenbach said, then added: "There are some Communists involved in it."

The SDS claims a membership of 300,000, mostly college students.

Peking Claim
Overseas, the Peking radio quoted the Chinese Kwangming daily as saying that the protest movement "is a continuation of the American people's protracted struggle against the United States policy of aggression and war."

The demonstrations, in various cities from New Haven, Conn., to Hawaii, were noisy but for the most part orderly. Heckling by antedemonstrators from the sidelines contributed to the uproar.

In New York City, where more than 10,000 antiwar adherents marched down Fifth Avenue Saturday, there were several fist fights and the hurling of eggs and red paint, but police kept things from getting out of hand.

In Rochester, N.Y., the state commander of the Veterans of

Jakarta Outlaws Communist Party

SINGAPORE (AP) — Radio Jakarta said tonight the Indonesian Communist party and some of its affiliated organizations have been outlawed.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the order was announced by Maj. Gen. Hadikarsono, commanding officer in the Jakarta area.

President Sukarno has opposed the army crackdown against Communists suspected of taking part in the Sept. 30-coup attempt against him. But the army has not let up on the Reds.

Theoretically, Sukarno as president is the only one who can ban a political party.

Four More Found Dead in Mine In West Virginia

SARDIS, W. Va. (AP) — The bodies of four more miners were removed from a burning coal mine near this central West Virginia community early today, ending a 32-hour effort to save seven men trapped underground by smoke and fire.

The four were found huddled together in a passageway three-quarters of a mile from where the fire broke out late Saturday night.

The bodies of three other victims were found earlier.

Hopes of the more than 100 rescue workers had been raised shortly after midnight with the discovery of a mine regulator.

Across the regulator was a message scrawled in chalk: "Couldn't get across." It was signed with the names of the four miners.

E. E. Spotts, vice president of Clinchfield Coal Co., said the four apparently had tried to get past the fire, but smoke forced them deeper into the mine which runs several miles back into a mountain.

Despite 'Freedom Class' Ban

Children Gather at Church in Milwaukee School Rights Boycott

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A group of Negro school children sang freedom songs outside a Milwaukee Roman Catholic church today where many of the pupils boycotting the city's public schools had planned to attend "freedom" classes.

The use of the church facilities of St. Boniface Parish for the "freedom" classes was specifically banned Sunday night by order of Auxiliary Bishop Roman R. Atkieski, but the children gathered anyway this morning.

The children were led in the singing by the Rev. James Groppi, assistant pastor at the church, and a vice chairman of the civil rights group organizing the boycott.

Father Groppi was one of a group of about 50 priests and nuns who had planned to participate in the boycott before Bishop Atkieski intervened. He said the boycott would be illegal.

Children Arrive

About 75 to 100 children who had been scheduled to attend classes arrived at St. Boniface. Asked what she planned to do with the children, Sister Marie Leclerc, principal of the school, replied, "You tell me. We had planned to have a freedom school here."

Three of the nine nuns in St. Boniface Convent had planned to teach in schools.

Father Groppi said he planned to be working with the freedom schools all over the city. He said he could not speak for the other priests. At the moment he was more concerned with the situation at St. Boniface.

"They've come here and they've found the doors closed," Father Groppi said.

Earlier, Father Eugene Bliefernicht, St. Boniface pastor, was preaching at the children's Mass, asked the children to join with him in praying for the school board.

Major Conflict

"I ask you children," he said, "to pray to God with me and ask Him, blessings on Milwaukee, especially that its school board will be moved to the right thing it should be doing."

The conflict between a bishop's religious authority, held by Catholic doctrine to be virtually absolute within his diocese, and the priests' argument that they must follow their personal conscience overshadowed the start of the boycott itself today.

The school protest, scheduled to last indefinitely, was called to dramatize charges of severe de facto segregation in Milwaukee schools.

Leaders said they were preparing space in the "freedom schools" for as many as 16,000 pupils from among the 120,000 enrolled in public classrooms. School officials said approximately 11,000 pupils were absent May 18, 1964, in the city's only previous boycott.

Sentinel Quote

Result of Killing

Fear More Violence In Dominican Capital

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — More violence is feared in Santo Domingo Saturday night at his home in go as the result of the killing of the former rebel zone as a mob of a conservative political leader, with Communist placards

The provisional government canceled all civilian arms permits in an effort to prevent shootings by vengeful friends of the slain man, Angel Severo Cabral, 56.

A heavily armed guard was thrown around the cemetery where Cabral was buried Sunday.

The angry crowd burned a Jeep of the government radio station, and beat up its driver.

Another radio station which had supported the rebels went off the air after an unidentified armed group attacked its transmitters just outside the capital.

Netherlands Orchestra To Open Artists Series

Chamber Group Again Under Baton of Eminent Violinist Szymon Goldberg

The Netherlands Chamber includes nearly all its original orchestra, under the baton of personnel, includes 13 violinists, two st and conductor Szymon Gold-double bassists and a harps- berg. will open the 1965-66 Law- cordist, in addition to conductor rence-Community Artist Series Goldberg, who also doubles as a violin soloist.

The orchestra's repertoire includes over 180 works about three-fourths of them Baroque, and one-fourth modern.

Mostly Hollanders There is a homogeneity of national background, too among its virtuoso musicians. The concertmaster, Thomas Maag, is Hungarian-born but his wife, the violinist, is Dutch. The Netherlands Chamber Or- chestra is another in the long line of European chamber im- ports that have made concert appearances at Lawrence. The ensemble since its founding, past 15 years has been such internationally renowned ensem- ble as the Moscow Chamber Orchestra, the Orchestra San Pietro of Naples, the Virtuosi di Roma, the Stuttgart Chamber Orchestra, I Musici, and more.

Unlike most of these fore- runners, however, the Nether- lands is a quite young orchestra in point of concert experience. This year marks the group's 11th season following a much heralded debut at the 1955 Hol- land Festival.

Brilliant Record Since then the Netherlands has grown with almost leger- dary strides, scoring brilliant- ly at the Edinburgh, Aix-En-Provence and Athens International Festivals, at Florence's Maggio Musicale, and in more than 500 other tour concerts through- out North America, the Brit- ish, Western Europe, Yugo- slavia and Israel.

Como Special Tonight Has Nancy Ames

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 — Channels 4-5 — Perry Como's Music Hall, which has stopped traveling, and will be seen seven times this season, opens with a trip to nostalgia and back. Nancy Ames is the guest, and she and Perry look back to the '30s, when Como's sponsor then presented Bing Crosby. Perry does a Bing with "Music Goes Round" and Nancy imitates Mary Martin singing "My Heart Belongs to Daddy."

Then, joined by the Ray Charles Singers and Danny Daniels Dancers, they do a medley of songs from the '30s and '40s. The dancers, in a production number, recall steps performed on popular early TV shows. The show ends in the present with Nancy singing two songs in Magyar, its Hungarian-born Sp. song, young Perry and a stage "it" of songs for "Waltz Right In" and Perry singing requests. (Season Premiere - Color)

6-7-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — One again Col. Gallagher. Paul Barbee spends more time find- ing a fellow officer than he does the Germans on 12 O'Clock High. His adversary is Warren Davis, very good as a cocky, hot-shot pilot who can do won- ders with an airplane, but is not too reliable. It's too bad this is not a more conscientious scrip- job, since the basis for a good story is here: the introduction of P-51 fighter cover for B-17 bombers. But unfortunately, the heroes act like a couple of kids who have seen too many World War I movies.

7:30-8 — Channels 4-5 — Dr. Kildare finally resolves the problems of his three medical students who the now learns were considered likely drop- outs. It seems he will lose one at that, Sheila Wells, the doctor who is upset because her patient has died, Miss Wells and Richard Chamberlain have one scene together, with realistic dialogue and good acting. (Color)

7:30-8 — Channels 2-7-12 — The Lucy Show is again a knock- down, drag-out affair. This time Joan Blondell, in her second appearance on the series, mes- merizes Lucille Ball into becom- ing a stuntman in a Western pattern brawl being filmed for the movie. It, of course, gives Lucy one more opportunity to display her versatility and inex- haustible energy. (Color)

8-8:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — Once again A Man Called Shenandoah is a stranger in town. Everywhere our hero turns, it seems, is an enemy. This time he has two — father and son. Vassar, Henry and Billy Claymore, who know more about his father than he does. So Shenandoah's only friend is a sheriff, but he isn't telling. It's a bit of a tough tale, well told, with some performance from star Robert Horton and the small cast which consists of Paul Carr, Whit Bissell and Charles McGraw.

8:30-9 — Channels 2-7-12 — Hazel convinces an old friend to stop being the lone holdout social worker who loves nates hooking a big real estate deal him, the man who is going to Ar. right after the friend has sue him for malpractice, and affixed her signature to a everybody else in sight. All contract, which has been di- rectly unbelievable.

Actress Kay Olson shattered all theatrical traditions of "waiting for the big break" by catapulting from obscurity to stardom in just 13 days. She came to New York, answered an audition call to replace the star of Anthony Newley's Broadway show "The Rear of the Greasepaint — the Smell of the Crowd" and now she has the featured role of "the girl." Here Miss Olson works on an abstract painting in her theater dressing room. (AP Wirephoto)

Peace Is Coming To Mekong Delta; Process Is Slow

It May Take Decades to Clear Infested Area of the Viet Cong

By HUGH MULLIGAN
SADEC, South Viet Nam (AP) — In the Mekong Delta, peace comes creeping slow.

Like the first pink snails of the westerling sun breaking over the muddy Mekong, a glimmer of hope may be coming through.

"It has to be," said Lt. Col. John Morgan, an American officer with the 9th Vietnamese Division, with weary fervor. "Why would these people bother to go on fighting? Why would any of us be here?"

The map on the wall in Morgan's office here at division headquarters looks like a patch of blue and green.

Patches of serene light blue for areas secured from the Viet Cong and brought under government control, blue checks for areas undergoing pacification, green for sections cleared of significant communist troop concentrations.

Worse Last Year
Less than a year ago the color could look at his map and see red, blood red, lots of it, relieved only here by a touch of blue or green.

It will be years, decades perhaps, before the map will show the delta people sleeping in peace, free from the nightly terror of outposts under attack by Viet Cong, of village chiefs derailed, of school teachers kidnapped and brutalized.

But hamlet by hamlet, village by village, province by province that day may be dawning.

For patience is an ancient Asian virtue, and peace an eternal yearning among people who have been fighting oppression since the earliest days of invading Chinese war lords.

Teh war in the delta is a constant struggle to keep the roads and canals open for the long lines of trucks and barges moving down from Saigon with the goods and materials — and back up north with the vital foodstuffs needed to feed the nation. Hardly a day goes by without a bridge being blown, a ferry crossing knocked out, a line of trucks held up by Viet Cong tax collectors. At night, nothing moves except troop convoys under heavy guard.

Lately, longer sections of road and canal have been kept open for longer periods, particularly in 9th Division country.

Ninth Division country stretches across the heart of the delta in a long narrow band from the South China Sea to the Cambodian border. It counts 26 million people, most of them farmers and fishermen living in 7 provinces and 1,900 hamlets, about one-fifth of the entire population of south Viet Nam.

Here in the middle of south Viet Nam's rice bowl, a land too rich to feed much of Southeast Asia, the Viet Cong controls 50 per cent of the land and only 14 per cent of the people.

Col. Morgan's map shows that 47 per cent of the people now live in secured and pacified areas, another 26 per cent are undergoing pacification, and perhaps the most heartening statistic of all, nearly 900 hamlets have been pacified.

When the war in Viet Nam began nearly 20 years ago, the peasant down on the delta followed his docile water buffalo across the same rice paddy his ancestors had plowed for generations. They couldn't have cared less whether the Viet Cong or the Vietnamese government controlled his province.

Governments were like war lords, they took from you, they gave nothing back. No matter how hard and monotonous the struggle to keep the roads and canals open for the years, and more startlingly so in the last year, a change has come over the delta dweller.

Led by American advisors both military and civilian working in the fields — political, medical, psychological — and bolstered by massive American aid the Vietnamese government has tried to get the message across that officials are supposed to serve and not to steal.

Vietnamese medics, sometimes even doctors and surgical teams, are treating patients in hamlets and villages that previously have known only Chinese witch doctors.

Showing Organization
Highly trained Vietnamese mobile cadres are moving into the districts and villages to show the people how to hold elections, how to start a community library, how to organize a defense platoon of popular forces.

Vietnamese agriculture experts are trying to teach new tricks in an area that doggedly clings to ancient ways, and similar work is being done in fishing, silk worm raising and light industry.

In many a village new classrooms are being added to the local school, a roof put on the church or pagoda, an improvement made in drainage or public power or a new well dug.

Progress in some areas is painfully slow and corruption is a constant menace, but a beginning has been made.

Throughout the secured areas of the delta thousands of highly trained and dedicated Americans are engaged in the enigmatic endeavor of trying to remain in the background while pushing the Vietnamese government into the foreground of helping the people.

Col. Morgan's map still shows too much red to indicate who is winning the war in the delta, but already there may be solid indications of who is winning the peace.

Dawn is slowly coming up over the Mekong, even if the light is still hazy with terror as the probing delta sun dips into the Gulf of Siam.

UNRENTED PROPERTY

COSTS MONEY

Unrented and idle apartments and houses are expensive when they're unoccupied.

There are many families in the Fox Cities area looking for better and more adequate housing facilities. Your home or apartment is probably suited for someone or family now looking for a place to live.

Certainly these people will not usually know about the availability of your property unless you tell them about it.

Son's Beatle Hair Cut Long Story That Father Cuts Short

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in behalf of my brother who is so mad he is actually cross-eyed. (One eye sort of goes over to the side when he gets excited and this morning he was madder than I have ever seen him.)

Oogie is 15 and has a mind of his own for which I admire him. He likes the Beatles and also the Rolling Stones. Oogie is not but he does happen to wear his hair longer than most kids. This has been talked about at the dinner table a lot lately because my folks hate it.

A few days ago my Dad ordered Oogie to get a haircut. Oogie said he'd think about it, but not an actual cut. Well, this morning my Dad went into Oogie's bedroom with a pair of scissors and he hacked off big chunks of hair on the side and in the back. Oogie woke up a few minutes later and boy did he ever get mad. He screamed about liberty and human rights and the four freedoms. My dad said the freedom to let your hair grow like a sheep dog is not one of the four freedoms. Oogie said now a person wears his hair in his own personal business. My dad said as long as a kid lives in his parent's house, and eats and sleeps there, it is their business, too.

How do you feel about this? — Cut to the Quick

Dear Cut: If there's anything I have no desire to get mixed up in it's a fight between a sheep dog and his parents.

If Oogie looked like some of the kids I've seen, I can understand why your Dad lost his temper.

I do feel, however, that your Dad should have laid down the law and ordered Oogie to get his hair trimmed instead of wielding the scissors himself.

Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father was a successful but conservative businessman. He would never buy a used car.

because, in his words, "It's foolish to buy somebody else's trouble." When I told him I wanted to marry a divorced man, he used the same phrase. Although I am only 24 and have been married less than a year people who meet me on the street ask me if I've been sick. My husband has made a nervous wreck out of me with his fault-finding. I can't do anything to suit him. He has a terrible temper and is tight with money.

So, Ann, when women write and ask if they should marry a divorced man, tell them what my Dad told me — advice I was too stupid to believe: "It's foolish to buy somebody else's trouble." — Wouldn't Listen

Dear Wouldn't: Thank you for letting us know how it is with you, but the statistics tell another story. The chances for a lasting marriage are slightly better when one of the partners has had a previous marriage. Surprised? I was, too.

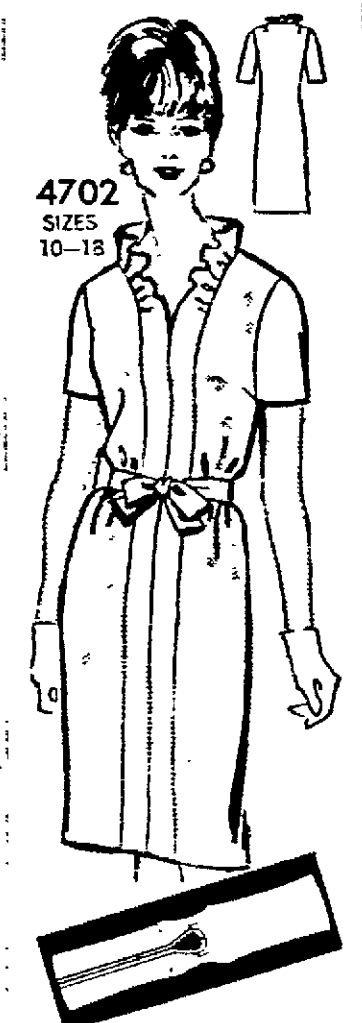

When you get to the two-time losers, however, the statistics take a sharp turn for the worse. And the more often a person marries after that the slimmer his chances for making a go of the next one.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cocktails and Canvas Delight Guests

With the lure of fine art and good fellowship, Fox Cities couples converged on the Terrace Motor Inn Saturday evening for Appleton Chapter of Hadassah's Cocktails and Canvas benefit show. The Baron Galleries of Chicago supplied the art, and guests spent many a thoughtful moment moving about the room viewing the various subjects and media presented.

The fun was provided by both Hadassah members and guests, who enjoyed a table of hors d'oeuvres and punch, as well as cocktails.

Proceeds from the program will be used to benefit the Hadassah Medical Center in Jerusalem.

Mrs. Dennis Bahcall was chairman of the show, which was repeated in a Coffee and Canvas program Sunday. Assisting her were Mrs. Philip Weiner, Mrs. Sidney Fielkow, Mrs. Donald Garelick, Mrs. Irwin Greene, Mrs. Robert Gordon, Mrs. Joseph Schiff, Mrs. Rudy Cherkasky, Mrs. Stanley Hamilton and Mrs. Jack Weiner.

Lawrence Faculty Women Tell Plans

A new program of fine arts lectures and tours has been started this year by Lawrence Faculty Women.

Mrs. David Mayer is chairman of the group, which seeks to highlight cultural activities available in the area and to present several original programs in music, art and drama. Lawrence Faculty Women is composed of wives of faculty and administrators, women faculty members, housemothers and emerita professors.

The first event will be a talk Thursday by Thomas Dietrich, artist in residence at Lawrence, who will discuss and show slides of his visit to East Germany.

Hostess for the meeting in Worcester Art Center will be Mrs. Minna D. Adenwalla.

Contemporary Dance
On Nov. 18 Roberta Jones, assisted by several Lawrence women, will give a contemporary dance demonstration in Stansbury Theatre. Mrs. Jones is a former dancer with Martha Graham and currently an instructor in dance at Lawrence. Mrs. Charles Breunig will be hostess.

A guided tour of the Paine Art Center in Oshkosh will be held on Jan. 6. Richard Gregg, director of the center, will comment on the current exhibit of Spanish colonial art.

Mrs. Theodore Cloak, curator, the Boynton estate in Door County. The 340-acre property, which contains a 15th century Norwegian chapel, has been donated to the university by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boynton.

On March 17, Robert Below, pianist and assistant professor of music, will present a recital in Harper Hall. Hostess will be Mrs. John M. Stanley. Members are planning to invite guests from the community to attend this performance.

The event on April 21 will be an open rehearsal of a student production with a commentary by Prof. Theodore Cloak, chairman of the department of theatre and drama.

In addition to the fine arts program, Lawrence women have planned two general tours and have scheduled events for other special interest groups, including bridge, sewing, sports and newcomers.

A tour on Feb. 24 will visit the Appleton Wire Works, and on May 26 the group will go to Plan Commission Urges Adoption of Downtown Project

Council Okay Asked to Uplift Appleton's Business District

Adoption of the proposed University campus. A survey of central business district plan the cross-section of the community (CBD) for Appleton — prepared by attending indicated strong by a team of St. Louis citizen support for the wide-consultants — was urged to the Appleton Council today by the city plan commission.

Additional support for the plan came from the Appleton Board of Realtors which endorsed the blueprint for the city's future business district and recommended it be adopted by the council.

Previously, the executive board of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce went on record favoring the plan and told city officials the business community would cooperate to implement it.

The plan had been explained in detail a few weeks ago at a public meeting on the Lawrence

Procedure Criticized
Copies of the extensive report prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates were distributed for the first time today to the plan commissioners, provoking mild criticism of the procedure followed.

Commissioner Maurice Lewis questioned why the commission, which contracted for preparation of a comprehensive plan, was the last to receive copies when the body would be the first to act on it.

"The plan should have come to this commission first," Lewis said. Mayor Clarence Mitchell said Lewis had a point.

The commission recommended council approval of the CBD as a guideline after asking City Planner Walter Rasmussen what the procedure should be.

Financial Analysis Due
It was indicated the council will receive a proposed long-term capital improvement financial analysis from the St. Louis firm in a few weeks, projecting the costs for carrying out the projects in the CBD.

The projects include reconstruction of College Avenue, an urban renewal program, construction of a high level bridge over the Fox River at Oneida Street, more off-street parking and a civic center complex in Jones Park.

The plan commission also: Requested the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development to ask the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency to amend Appleton's urban planning grant so the city can include an annexation study in its comprehensive plan. The government would pay two-thirds of the cost.

Denied a request to rezone property at Greenview Street and Roeland Avenue from single to two-family, overriding the recommendation of Rasmussen.

Pacific Street Bridge Worse Than Believed

Bues Reports Serious Defects Found by Crew Fixing Structure

The 59-year-old Pacific Street bridge is in worse shape than a preliminary examination showed last year, Public Works Director Robert W. Bues disclosed today.

Serious defects in the structure became apparent last week when the crew of an Alabama firm, contracted by the city, started to renovate the bridge.

A year ago the common council had considered placing a strict maximum weight limit on the bridge but then changed its mind when it was learned such limitation would prevent buses and fire trucks from using it.

In addition to resurfacing the street level of the bridge, Bues said it will be necessary to rebuild around some of the steel area.

Cost May Go Up
The project was estimated to cost about $20,000 but the price may run higher, Bues said.

After hacking off the loose cement on the top and sides of the bridge, crews will start blasting it with sand and cement mixed with water — providing an adhesive surface.

"With the new surface and other work, the bridge will be restored to its normal shape," Bues said.

During the coming year two other city bridges will be repaired with funds included in the proposed 1966 budget.

The sum of $30,250 has been earmarked for repairing the Memorial Drive bridge, and $4,500 is designated for repairs to the South Island Street plank bridge.

2 Youths Who Had Heart Surgery 'Fine'

Two Fox Cities children who underwent open heart surgery more than two weeks ago are home and reported "doing fine." The Post-Crescent has learned.

Allan Trudell, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Trudell, 127 N. Wilson St., Kimberly, was returned home Sunday. While he still needs at least one month of rest, he is reported to be progressing well.

Lorie Kettleson, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kettleson, 1508 N. Hine St., Appleton, has been home since last Wednesday from her operation in Memorial Hospital, Chilton, and Madison and is "just fine," her family has said.

Both children underwent surgery to correct holes in their hearts, which they were born with, and other heart deficiencies.

Kaukauna Police Find Walk-Away From Hospital

KAUKAUNA — City police apprehended a walk-away from Winnebago State Hospital Sunday night for operating a vehicle without a driver's license.

When apprehended, the man told police he had come to Kaukauna to get a deer rifle and blast the police department. He also looked for his father's pistol but the father had gone hunting and all guns in the home were gone.

He advised police to tell Winnebago authorities to put him in solitary as he intended to give them a bad time. He was taken to the county jail and held for Winnebago police.

Floats at the St. John High School Homecoming parade at Little Chute warned of defeat for the invading Abbot Pennings team. Juniors, using a sailboard, warned, "We'll sail to victory."

while seniors with a large dog proclaimed, "Dog-gone-it We'll Win." but the forecasts came before the game was played. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Establishment Of Lot Grades Stirs Emotions

Bues, Rasmussen Say It Can't be Done; Mitchell Disagrees

Established lot grades throughout the city — advocated in a recent resolution submitted to the common council — stirred mixed emotions at today's plan commission meeting.

"It can't be done but this doesn't mean that I wouldn't welcome a solution," commented Public Works Director Robert W. Bues.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen echoed Bues' sentiments.

"The — it can't be done," replied Mayor Clarence Mitchell. "The folks in my neighborhood did it on a cooperative basis."

Commissioner Ray LeVeé felt the city could establish grades for lots to prevent some people from building higher than others and causing neighborhood surface drainage problems.

Appointed Chairman
He wound up being appointed chairman of a special subcommittee to look further into the matter.

Ald. Roy Pointer (15th) authored the resolution, hoping the city would specify lot grades which must be maintained by anyone building in Appleton.

Bues said he felt strongly on the subject because it would require the city to engineer all lots in a given block without having control over backyard lines anyway.

"Some homes are built 15 to 20 years apart in given areas," Bues said to illustrate his point that it would be difficult to maintain a standing grade line.

City Accepts Obligation
Bues and Rasmussen cautioned that whenever the city sets the grades when accepting plats, it would also be accepting all obligation for any water or drainage troubles that may develop on private property.

"I would like to see some sort of a workable plan to set grades and maintain them," Rasmussen said, "but there have been a lot of people who worked on the problem and couldn't come up with anything worth consideration."

Mitchell said the time to set grades was when the blocks are still vacant. He indicated the people who build should cooperate in solving common-surface water problems.

In the past, the department of public works has assisted residents with chronic yard flooding problems, giving suggestions as to how they may be alleviated on private property.

Reigning Over Homecoming festivities at St. John High School in Little Chute last weekend was Kathy Wieseckel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wieseckel. Liquor, Four Cases of Beer Taken in Burglary Of Appleton Home

Several bottles of liquor and four cases of beer were taken in a burglary at the Harold Springstroh home, 330 W. Winnebago St., Saturday night or early Sunday.

Springstroh reported the incident to Appleton police at 1 a.m. Sunday. The liquor was taken from a kitchen cupboard and the beer from a fruit cellar. Entry was gained through a bathroom window on the west side of the home, police said.

125 Attend North Sectional 40-8 'Wreck' at New London

19 Men Initiated Into Group; State Officials Report on Plans

NEW LONDON — Approximately 125 members of 40 and 8 voitures in Wisconsin attended the seventh annual North Sectional Fall Grande Promenade and Wreck at the American Legion Club Sunday.

Highlight of the celebration came about noon when members traveled through the city in a caravan of cars, 40 and 8 locomotives and fire engines to visit William Reberg, route 1, a Purple Heart winner and member of the local voiture. Reberg is confined to his home because of a heart ailment.

Nineteen new members were added to the club during the day's events. "Poor Goofs," as the initiates are known, began their introduction to the American Legion fun group in the club after the afternoon initiation.

Relative National Official
Initiate Martin Clark, Shawano, scored a first for the state. Clark's step-father, Reginald C. White, was Chief de Chemin de Ferre, national head of the organization. It marked the first time a member had been initiated whose relative was a national official.

Portage County voiture, Stevens Point, was in charge of the initiation ceremony.

The morning session included a business meeting. Reports on plans for the upcoming year were given by state officers and committees presented reports.

Arthur Jacoby, Milwaukee, state Chief de Gare, said the North Sectional meeting gave local persons a chance to discuss programs with officials and directors and let committees report on their activities.

The 40 and 8 will again concentrate on its primary programs of child welfare and nurses training, he said.

Aid Children.
Jacoby said 74,000 children were aided in the state by the same workers on an audience of 40 and 8 last year and 775,000 aided in the nation. He reported this was about 10 per cent of the children.

Youth Arrested in Kimberly for Breaking Into Hardware Store

KIMBERLY — A 17-year-old youth was apprehended by Kimberly and Little Chute police about 1:10 a.m. Sunday after breaking into Verhagen and Sons hardware store, 109 W. Kimberly Ave.

Police were alerted by a witness who saw the boy breaking the glass in the back door window.

Little Chute police were called to watch one exit while Kimberly police entered the other.

He will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Alert Issued for 2 Men Who Escaped From State Farm

A statewide alert has been issued for two young men who walked away from the Green Bay State Reformatory honor camp last week.

Marshall A. Ladwig, New London, Chief de Gare, was in charge of the arrangements. Russell Beaudry, 20, Milwaukee, and Irving Horan, 19, Waukegan, were the two men who escaped.

Beaudry is described as five feet, eight inches tall, 170 pounds and having brown hair. Horan has light brown hair, is about six feet tall and weighs 230 pounds. Both men are wearing either khakis outfits or overalls.

'Little Angels' Dazzle Audience With Grace

BY MARSHALL GRANDROS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Exchange between cultures often is made through armies that sweep across a land. Be they ally or enemy, soldiers establish the first real contact with the people through members of the Korean National Court Music Academy.

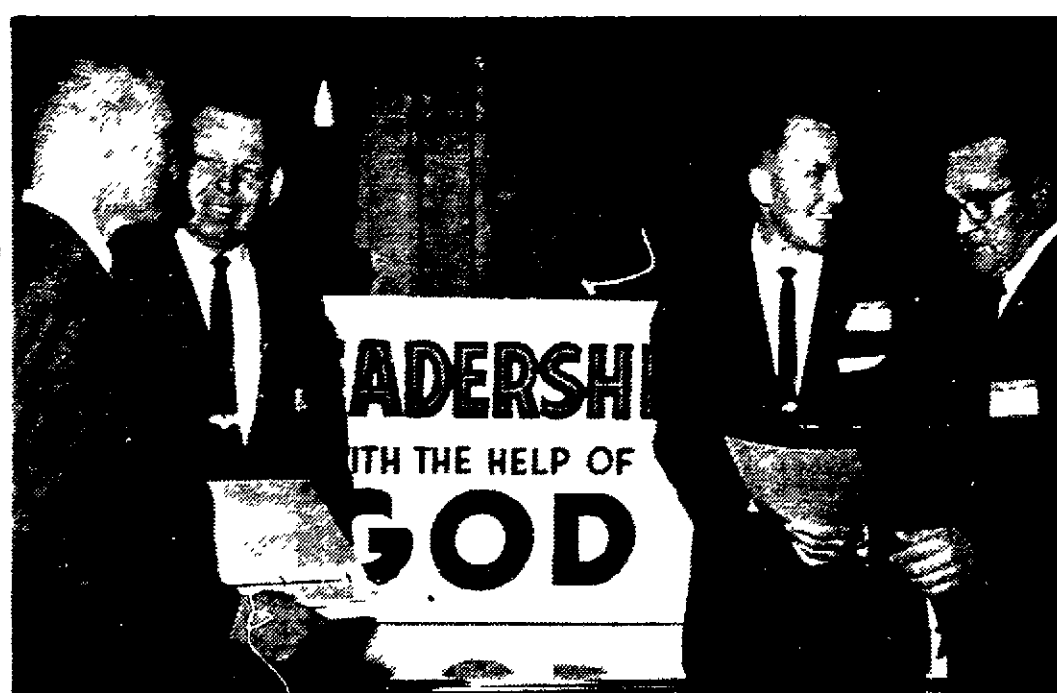

The most battle-weary veteran is a soft touch for the waifs left in the wake of destruction. Through the songs, dances of various sizes and tones, and charm of the little ones, one begins to see the country in a different light. And, understanding and acceptance of ways different than one's own begins.

If this immediate appeal of children works on the combat soldier, it must surely work the same wonders on an audience of parents and children. Some ears with the wonder of the beauty of this far-off land that Cultural and Freedom Foundation applied this technique on an audience at Lawrence Chapel Sunday night. And it won us over most effectively.

Sill and Grace
The Little Angels, ranging in age from 7 to 13, put on a most dazzling show of their skill and grace performing traditional dances of their homeland. The One was "Oh Susanna" and the other was one of the most beautiful folk songs in the world, the haunting "Ariment." That any American G.I. father's heart was touched by the music and dance for us.

The show was filled with did meet last night, here in Appleton, and the key that him in solitary as he intended to open the door to this meeting give them a bad time. He was taken to the county jail and held for Winnebago police.

Officials to Attend League Conference

Mayor Mitchell to Represent Appleton at Green Bay Meeting

Public officials from the Fox Cities region will play active roles in the 67th annual conference of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Green Bay this week.

The league, comprised of an estimated 10,000 officials from cities and villages throughout the state, will hold business sessions Wednesday through Friday.

One of the keynoters will be Gov. Warren Knowles, who will share the platform with several other government experts and researchers on the local, state and national level.

Mitchell to Attend

Mayor Clarence Mitchell of Appleton, a member of the board of directors whose term expires this year, has been mentioned in recent months as a contender for the presidency of the statewide organization.

Mitchell, who has been in municipal government for 16 years, is serving his fourth term as mayor of Appleton.

Mitchell will leave for Green Bay Tuesday.

John N. Kramer, Fennimore, is president of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. Other directors include James P. Coughlin, Winneconne village president; Joseph Lustig, Janesville city manager, and Roy A. Sarbacher, Black Earth village president; Ralph F. J. Vought, Merrill mayor; V. Y. Gwynon, Elkhorn mayor; Philip Nobles, Byron village president; Erin Meier, Wauwatosa mayor; Martin Schreiber, Milwaukee council president, and Harry Simon, Ashland mayor.

Preside at Workshop

On Thursday, Mitchell will preside over the workshop on "Downtown Renewal" for mayors of Wisconsin's larger cities.

Others who will chairmen sectional meetings include Marvin Schumacher, village trustee at Combined Locks, and Coughlin.

Mayor Carl Loehning of Neenah, a long-time league member, is chairman of the resolutions committee, which will recommend the legislation to come before the annual meeting later in the week.

The regular meeting of the Appleton council, scheduled for Wednesday night, will be rescheduled for next Monday night, Oct. 25, to permit aldermen and department heads to attend the league conference.

Expected to attract considerable interest is a special panel discussion on "Municipal Labor Relations." Participants will be Morris Slaveny, chairman of the Wisconsin Labor Relations Board, James Morter, former Milwaukee alderman and city negotiator, and John A. Lawton, representing the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

Church Plans Film, Panel on 'Tangled World'

The third session of the First Congregational Church's fall study program for adults, will meet from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesday in the junior auditorium.

A film and a discussion based on the book, "Tangled World" by Roger Shinn are planned. The book deals with life in the contemporary world where rapid change is taking place.

"Self understanding" is the title of this week's discussion which will be led by panelists: Dr. Keith Keane, psychiatrist; Kenneth Venderbush, dean of men, Lawrence University, and the Rev. Donald Severson, associate minister of the church.

The theme of the next discussion will be "Science" and will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 26. Panelists will be Dr. Richard Zuehlke, assistant professor of chemistry, Lawrence University, and Dr. Robert Leekley, research associate, Institute of Paper Chemistry.

The discussions are open to the public.

Commissioner Asks Insurance Talks

Robert Haase Plans Discussions On Fire, Car Cancellation Rates

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Robert D. Haase, newly appointed state insurance commissioner and former assemblyman from Marinette and Florence Counties Wednesday said that he plans a "face to face" discussion in the immediate future with the leaders of Wisconsin's insurance industry to attempt to solve the problems of rising cancellation rates of automobile and fire policies.

"If the state commissioner's office does not move to solve this problem," Haase told the members of the state senate committee on labor, taxation, insurance and banking, "the state or federal governments will New laws are not the answer, but only the last resort."

Haase pointed out that the insurance industry was terminating and cancelling many fire and automobile policies for what subscribers felt were "no reasons at all."

Losing Money
"The industry has been losing money in these fields for the last four years. If we can help the industry to readjust their rates the problems will automatically disappear as the companies can show a profit."

He said that his department had submitted legislation to allow a study of possible revisions of the state insurance law by the Legislative Council.

"The insurance laws of Wisconsin are among the best in the country, but there has been no study of them for 30 years. In the little time that I have been in the commissioner's office I have discovered several areas that are not covered by law at all. The federal government is continually threatening to move into the field of insurance if the states do not do a good job of regulating themselves."

Protect Consumer
The commissioner's task, Haase told the members of the committee reviewing his nomination prior to senate consideration, is to protect the consumer.

This aim is best served, he said, by making the industry aware of the problem and then working with its leaders "to make the companies a profit to themselves and to the state."

Haase, a lawyer in private life, also called for the addition of a staff lawyer to the commission, saying that while full cooperation was being received from the attorney general's office, "it often comes in answer to simple questions, and formal opinions take months to receive."

Haase is the first lawyer to hold the office of commissioner in many years.

Legal Knowledge
He served in the assembly as representative of Florence and Marinette counties from 1957 until September, when Gov. Warren P. Knowles appointed him to succeed Charles Manson in the commission post.

The 42-year-old former assembly speaker cited his knowledge and experience in the legal and legislative fields as attributes for his confirmation.

Also speaking in favor of Haase's confirmation were Paul Mast, executive secretary of the Independent Insurance Agents of Wisconsin, and Charles Kennedy of Town Mutual insurance companies. There were no appearances in opposition.

Vocal Groups Name Officers

KAUKAUNA — Officers and section leaders were elected by the Concert Choir at Kaukauna High School last week.

Officers include Kenneth Schmidt, president; Robert Pfanzner, vice president; and section leaders Patricia Landreman, soprano; Robert Jackels, tenor; Carolyn Bren and Betty Van Dyke, alto; and Robert Pfanzner, bass. These students will make up the executive board which will work with Robert Lamont, director, in planning activities.

The Concert Choir will put on a Thanksgiving program for the student body, a public Christmas concert and spring concert. Members will also have a voice in selecting and ordering new robes.

Officers of the Mixed Chorus include Jan Tulloch, president; Mary Kay Kister, vice president; Mary Jo Keough, secretary; and Mary Pfanzner, treasurer. Junior High choir officers are Wayne Skromme, president; Becky Schmidt, vice president; and Chris Kessler and Ross Schuh, secretary and treasurer. The Mixed Chorus and Junior Choir also participate in the Christmas and spring concerts.

Homes Like This Rent for anywhere from $15 to $35 per month in Koehnke's Woods, west of Appleton in the Town of Grand Chute. Informal discussions have been held in preparation to annexing the property.

May be Annexed, Condemned

BY RAY PY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Koehnke's Woods, for over a quarter of a century a collection of low rental housing units in the Town of Grand Chute west of Appleton, may be annexed to the City of Appleton as a first step toward condemning the property.

Grand Chute officials and Mitchell confirmed last week that informal discussions have been held between the two communities concerning the future of the eight-acre tract of land on which the 19 low rent homes have stood, some as long as 25 years.

Least concerned about the developments, if there are any, is 77-year-old Ervin Koehnke, Mayor Mitchell approached the town board inquiring of possible annexation and asked for a list of property owners in the tract.

According to town officials, it was determined at the time that service to the area would best be provided by Appleton after annexation.

Mitchell this week claimed the annexation would provide property which could be condemned and later included in the city's industrial park to the south of Koehnke's Woods.

Mitchell said nothing has been done formally about the annexation because he has not received the list of property owners who would be involved.

Never Consulted
Koehnke Friday agreed that city action could result in a condemnation of the property and purchase by the city, but he said he has never been approached by either Appleton or Town of Grand Chute officials about his property.

He said he seldom advertises his homes, but there is always a demand for rentals. He said most residents "are He said only one family currently has children living in one of his homes.

Annexation discussions apparently came about when Town of Grand Chute engineers declared that a sewer line being laid in the southern edge of the town would not service the eight-acre tract in Koehnke's Woods.

Sewage Lift Station
Engineers said service to the

Homes in the development are at the largest, two bedrooms rented at $35 per month. Koehnke also rents a small wooden mobile trailer home to a man and wife, for $15 per month.

He said he does little maintenance in the homes and tells renters they must purchase their own paint or material for fixing up the homes.

To keep out the winds, Koehnke said, the renters pile leaves around the foundations.

Was Pasture
The tract was a wooded pasture land in 1941 when it was purchased from a farmer. Koehnke built his own home in the woods, then set about constructing, one a year, the other homes.

He said he had the homes rented as soon as the buildings were nearing completion.

Most of the area is overgrown with the woods and there is debris piled in the yards about his property. He said he take their trash to the Town of skirting his property and has Grand Chute dump themselves made no requests from town as there is no collection in the officials to be serviced by the woods.

A resident who picked up the trash, charging $1 each per make a good park area, but month, quit sometime ago because to have turned down a cause he could not get paid.

Explosive Housing Measure 1st Major State Senate Issue

Uncertain Fate Awaits Bill Aimed At Ending Racial Discrimination

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin assembly this summer adopted an explosive bill to end racial discrimination in housing and public accommodations. The bill could be the most explosive one to come out of the legislature in years.

A bill to end racial discrimination in housing and public accommodations was introduced in the Wisconsin assembly today. The bill is the first of its kind in the state's history.

Kenosha Pair Killed When Plane Crashes

WISCONSIN (AP) — A two-engine plane crashed Sunday near Kenosha, killing a man and a woman. The plane was on a flight from Chicago to Kenosha.

The crash occurred about 10 miles from Kenosha. The plane was a Cessna 441, and it was carrying two people. The pilot was a man, and the passenger was a woman. The plane crashed into a field, and the two people were killed.

Round of Staff Conferences Greet Johnson on 10th Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's 10th day in his hospital stay was quiet today and swung right into a round of staff conferences.

Johnson, who probably will return to the White House in a day or two, was up before 7 a.m. after a good sleep. Assistant press secretary Joseph Laitin, who reported that the President breakfasted on melon balls and tea, then began conferring with staff aides.

Johnson got dressed Sunday for the first time since his gall bladder-kidney stone operation Oct. 8.

Devotions in Hospital He attended devotional services in his hospital quarters, as he had the Sunday before. He skipped a follow-up session.

End of Fantasy Land Wreckers Take Over World's Fair Grounds

NEW YORK (AP) — Wrecking crews start today tearing down most of the buildings on the 640-acre fantasy land of the New York World's Fair which ended its two-year run with a record one-day attendance of 445,933.

Widespread pilferage and vandalism marked the final day Sunday.

There were farewells among fair employees and exhibitors. Dozens of parties went on after the closing of the fairgrounds at 2 a.m. today.

Fair officials announced a 1965 attendance of 24,459,160 and the two-year attendance as 51,697,448. Before the fair opened last year, they had predicted a two-year attendance of 70 million.

Attendance last year was 27,148,369. The 1964-65 fair attendance topped the 44.9 million of the 1939-40 New York World's Fair. The 1964-65 fair wound up in the red financially, just as the one a generation ago did.

Sunday's attendance broke the two-year record of 445,455 set Saturday. Three children and an adult were injured — none seriously — when three cars of a miniature train overturned Sunday at the Long Island Rail Road's exhibit, spilling the passengers. Robert Moses, president of the private nonprofit fair corporation, said Sunday he is certain the city park planned for the grounds in Flushing Meadows Queens, "will eventually be the city's finest park." The park will utilize several of the fair's exhibit buildings.

Moses said the two-year fair attendance was "more than ever visited any similar enterprise." In a closing day statement he said fair note holders eventually would receive "more than" 50 cents on each dollar they invested. He compared the return.

TV Actress, 'Sweethearts,' Flee Castro

Pair Couldn't Have Religious Wedding On Communist Isle

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Two sweethearts who said they wanted to get married in a religious ceremony — something "we couldn't do in Cuba" — and a barefoot actress were among 20 Cuban refugees who arrived here today.

Juan Crutcher, 61, a Havana merchant, said he and his wife, Raula Suarez, 38, wanted to be married by the Roman Catholic priest who married his sister three years ago in Union City, N.J.

"We want a religious wedding and in Cuba you can't have that," Crutcher told newsmen.

Carmelo Olivera, 24, a television actress, said she arrived barefoot because her baggage and shoes were lost in a Cuban customs office.

Might Want Medicine The latest batch of refugees arrived aboard the 24-foot Cuban cruiser Nimbo. It was operated by four Cuban exiles who live in Key West.

One refugee, taxidriver Antonio Fernandez, 58, Havana said rumors were circulating in Cuba that Prime Minister Fina Castro wanted to leave the country from the United States in exchange for political prisoners.

Fernandez and other refugees said Cubans were lining up for several blocks in front of the Interior Ministry offices in Havana in an effort to get permission to leave. He said the would-be refugees stood in line day and night.

Boat Feared Sunk The shuttle from Camarioca, Cuba, to Key West has increased the U.S. Cuban colony by about 470 but an expected stream of boats appeared delayed. One refugee boat was feared sunk.

Two others made it Sunday, bringing a total of 44 refugees from Fidel Castro's island.

There was some feeling that delay in stepped-up crossings, for which the Coast Guard had prepared itself over the weekend, could mean that an agreement with Cuba over a systematic exodus plan sought by the United States might be near.

New arrivals claimed red tape in processing applicants at Camarioca, the port of exit, delayed departures.

The captain of a fishing boat that landed in New Orleans with six refugees aboard said he would rather stay in jail in the United States than be free in Cuba.

Congress Hopes This Week Will be Last of '65 Session

Sugar Apportionment, Education Bills May Hold Up Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — With fingers crossed, Congress begins today what its leaders predict may be the last week of the 1965 session.

Only a few major obstacles stand in the path of adjournment. But veteran legislators have become accustomed to seeing adjournment targets missed and legislative tangles have a way of developing at the last minute.

The seeds of such tangles are in several pending bills, particularly a measure to apportion foreign and domestic sugar quotas and an aid to higher education bill.

Both the Senate and the House have passed bills to aid higher education. But the House version did not include establishment of a national teacher corps to strengthen teaching in low-income areas.

New that Senate and House conferees have introduced the corps in a compromise version of the bill. House Republicans have pledged a fight to knock the provision out when the compromise makes its final run through Congress.

The House takes up the bill Tuesday.

The sugar bill has cleared the House and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said Sunday he thinks the Senate Finance Committee can complete action on the bill today.

If that happens, said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, the bill will be brought before the full Senate Tuesday.

Both Dirksen and Mansfield said Congress could adjourn this week if it quickly disposes of the pending major bills.

Subsidize Production Opponents of the sugar bill complain that American consumers will be paying a subsidy to foreign sugar producers because the measure commits the United States to buy foreign sugar at about twice the world price.

An effort in the Finance Committee to limit the bill to an increase in domestic quotas failed Friday. Members of Congress from sugar-producing states say 18 they cannot go home without.

But Pope Paul decided differ-

tion this week is a bill approved by the Senate Post Office Committee to give federal workers a $641.4-million pay raise this year. The House has voted for a $1.55-billion increase. Johnson asked a $400 million boost. The House Committee on Un-American Activities opens public hearings Tuesday on the Ku Klux Klan. Two controversial nominations come before the Senate this week. David G. Bress to be U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia and Francis X. Morrissey to be a federal judge in Massachusetts.

Document Approved Friday Declaration on Jews Ordered Promulgated

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI endorsed today the Vatican Ecumenical Council's declaration of non-Christians and the Jews. He ordered its promulgation at a public council session Oct. 28.

That means it will become a decree binding on Roman Catholics three weeks earlier than expected.

In a working session in St. Peter's last Friday, the assembly of Roman Catholic prelates from around the world voted final approval to the document, which says all Jews cannot be blamed for the crucifixion of Christ.

As a result of this vote, the document needs only the formal promulgation by Pope and council, in a public session of the council, to become a decree.

Other Decrees The council had scheduled a public session for Oct. 28 for the promulgation of four other decrees approved prior to the vote on the declaration on non-Christians. Council sources said the latter could not be promulgated at the same time because of technical difficulties in getting it printed and in preparing official translations of its Latin language text. They said it would be promulgated at a second public session, probably Nov. 18.

But Pope Paul decided differ-

Packers Beat Lions With Flaming Rally

Starr Triggers Comeback That Turns 21-3 Halftime Deficit Into 31-21 Win

By ART DALEY

Post-Crescent News Service

DETROIT — This was the Packers' finest half hour. The rally they put on in Tiger Stadium Sunday must easily rank as one of the most memorable in the team's long and colorful history.

The Packers were behind, 21 to 3, at halftime but at the end of the third quarter they were in front, 24-21. When the game ended Green Bay had beaten Detroit, 31 to 21.

The Packers scored 21 points in the third quarter behind a fabulous display of efficiency by Bart Starr. In the space of the Bays' 13 plays, covering 13 minutes and 24 seconds, the Pack's icy quarterback threw three touchdown passes, completed seven out of eight pass attempts for 239 yards, and called five rushing plays for 24 yards.

The Lions were furious now, but Starr had set a fire under the Bays and just to clinch the verdict in a boo-stricken fourth quarter Starr scored the fourth TD, himself, on a 4-yard bootleg run.

It was Green Bay's fifth straight victory and, of course, left the Pack as the only unbeaten in the league. Next assignment is Dallas in Milwaukee.

...was third and two — Starr flipped an 8-yarder just over the line to Carroll Dale and the swift former Ram legged in for the TD, the play covering 77 yards. All 11 Lions were in tight, expecting a smash at the line.

The Lions never got beyond the Pack 43 from then on as the Bay defense ground the keyed Lions to a halt, with Doug Hart and Willie Wood intercepting passes in the fourth quarter.

The Packers did virtually a complete about-face in the

Browns Build Up Early Lead, Defeat Dallas

Lou Groza Kicks Three Field Goals In 23-17 Victory

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns built up an early lead against a stubborn Dallas defense Sunday and held on for a 23-17 victory over the Cowboys.

Jim Brown scored one Cleveland TD. Frank Ryan passed 29 yards to Walter Roberts for another, and Lou Groza kicked three field goals — including one of 48 yards.

The Cowboys, blanked for nearly the entire first half, scored on two passes by Don Meredith and a field goal by Danny Villaneuva.

A penalty helped put the Browns in position for the first touchdown.

Pass Interference

Ryan's pass from midfield intended for Roberts fell into the arms of a Dallas defender, but the officials ruled pass interference, and the Browns took over on the Dallas 10. On the next play, Brown charged through the line for a touchdown.

...are the only team to beat the Lou Groza kicked a 48-yard field goal a few minutes later to give the Browns a 10-0 first-quarter lead.

The Browns raced 82 yards in aerial to start it off — on the four plays for another touchdown, second play of the quarter. Ryan clicked with fleet halfback Leroy Kelly on a pass play that took the ball into the Dallas 29.

Kelly took a short pass over the line, dodged a couple of would-be tacklers, and set the score at 21-17. On the 13th play — get this, it

Sayers Scores 4 Times As Chicago Rallies for 45-37 Win Over Vikes

By LEW FERGUSON

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — You would think a rookie halfback who scored four touchdowns and gained 324 yards while handling the ball only 22 times in his fifth game as a professional would be pretty satisfied, right?

Not if he's Gale Sayers, the blistering runner of the Chicago Bears. The former University of Kansas flash was chagrined after leading the Bears to a 45-37 victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday because he didn't throw a touchdown pass.

On his only pass attempt, late in the first half, Sayers shipped as he threw the ball. Still, he completed the toss to Dick Gordon for a 27-yard gain to the Vikings three-yard line. It set up a 12-yard field goal by Roger LeClerc.

"I would have passed for a touchdown, if I hadn't slipped," complained Sayers in the dressing room. Aside from that disappointment, all Sayers did was Run 96 yards with a kickoff that brought the Bears from a 37-31 deficit into a 38-37 lead with 2:18 left in the game. That broke the Vikings' backs.

Score an insurance touchdown on a 10-yard run a few moments later after fellow star rookie Dick Butkus had intercepted a Fran Tarkenton pass and returned it 35 yards.

Score touchdowns on passes of 18 and 25 yards from Rudy Bukich.

Carry the ball 13 times from scrimmage for 64 yards.

Catch for passes for 63 yards. And return four kickoffs for 170 yards.

"I didn't think I'd do this well," Sayers said.

Praises Starr for Calling Good Game

Great Comeback, Vince Says After Win

Post-Crescent News Service

DETROIT — "The Packers have pride."

This is the way Coach Vince Lombardi summed up the second half determination of the Packers as they charged back to score four touchdowns and a 31-21 victory over the Lions.

Lombardi was beaming during postgame activities in the dressing room. As he explained the sharp turn in affairs for the Packers.

"This was a great comeback. We stayed in there and it paid off. This team has a great deal of pride and the players knew they had to come back," he said with a wide smile and a gesture to the entire team.

Great Pressure He admitted the Lions put great pressure on Starr (Bart) during the first half "and it seemed every time we got the ball it was on the 10-yard line."

The Packers made only one offensive change in the second half and that was to put Jerry Kramer in at guard. "This was to get more speed in there to set up the protection for Bart," Lombardi said.

The Packers knew the Lions top defensive back, Bobby Thompson, was out with injuries but Lombardi insisted "We weren't trying to pick on anyone out there."

"When Hill, (Jimmy) began limping a little we went after him," Lombardi added with a grin.

Praises Starr He directed his praise at Starr. Lombardi said Starr called a great game especially with the strong pressure from the front four of the Lions.

Starr agreed with particular reference "to those two tackles."

Asked about a second quarter call to go for a punt instead of a field goal Lombardi said there was nothing to gain with three points and added midfield is a long way for a field goal. "If it was blocked we would have been in real trouble," he said.

Starr acknowledged the third and 30 yards quarter which brought three touchdowns passes was one of his best. He said the third and 30 situation which ended with a 62-yard pitch to Carroll Dale extra signals that caused half-back Charney Taylor to jump.

"You gotta be lucky some times," he observed.

"I was hoping they were looking for a run," he said the Lions were playing tight and he figured he could hit Dale with a long toss.

Dale said he had nothing to do with calling the play. "All I had to do was catch it and run and hope my knee would hold that far," Dale said he had no trouble getting into the open with the Lions two defensive men playing close.

Commenting on the boobying by the Lion fans in the final period, Starr said "We couldn't hear a thing. We tried one play, but the boys couldn't hear the signals."

He praised the efforts of Joe Schmidt and Wayne Walker for trying to calm down the crowd.

With Thompson out and Hill jumping, Starr admitted the Packers worked on that area of the defensive unit.

With a grin he said, "Anytime there's a new man out there we look him over."

Asked about his fourth down run for a touchdown, Starr said it was a simple option and he decided to go all the way.

It was a happy Doug Hart who pulled on shirt after a long in league play, although he did work it a bit in pre-season play. That second half was quite a change," Caffey said. "Guess I'm a little to blame for not putting enough pressure on Plum during the first half," he admitted. Despite the loss, Lion Coach Harry Gilmer was high in his praise for his team. He Bears.

The Lions next moved 83 yards in six plays for their 21-3 lead, the payoff coming on Plum's 55 yarder to Barr who made a fine catch for the TD, just a step ahead of Hart.

The famous third quarter started innocently enough with Long taking Starr's 13-yard pass on a square out to the right. Next time, Long went straight down, cut to his left, and took Starr's pass and cut toward the left sideline and into the clear while Dale blocked Rasmussen. Studstill's good punt put the Bays on their own 11 again, but Starr and Dale worked a 26-yarder to get out of the danger zone. The next big play was an 11-yard clutch catch by Paul Hornung to the Lion 36. Paul was shaken up on the play and Moore came forth. Two plays later, Moore took Starr's pass the middle and broke away from tackles by Schmidt and Lebeau for the TD.

A good tackle by Caffey forced another Lion punt and the Bays were back deep again — this time on their own 15 Taylor hit for five and then pulled their magic.

It was 14-05 when Chandler kicked his third extra point for the 21-21 lead. The game really got defense over in the fourth quarter and the Lions' only scoring effort was a 50-yard field goal try by Wayne Walker.

The play that got the Pack's fourth TD drive moving was a 20-yard pass from Starr to Taylor who made one of those hard, reaching catches at the Packer 45. Two plays later, Fleming took Starr's pass and Maher's over-time tackle and the boo-action started.

After Starr's bootlegger, the fans had a few more boos saved from the game in favor of George Izo, the departee was given a round of boos. On Izo's first play, Wood intercepted and the game was over.

A 34-yard kickoff return by Mel Renfro moved the ball to tied after games of Oct. 15-16, midfield, and Meredith passed including eight major colleges. the Cowboys to the 16, where Villanueva kicked a field goal.

On the kickoff, Kelly made a fine 44-yard return for the Browns but fumbled, giving Dallas the ball on the Cleveland 47. Meredith passed 42 yards to Frank Clarke. His pass over the goal line bounced out of the arms of one receiver, was touched by a Cleveland defender, but was captured by Pettis Norman for the touchdown.

Meredith's 20-yard pass to Pete Gent with 1:17 left to play narrowed the gap to 23-17, but it was too late. An interception by Larry Benz of the Browns killed the Cowboys' final scoring threat.

When George Saimes of the Buffalo Bills said "I do" at the wedding he got a job instead of a wife.

And Sunday, playing against the Kansas City team that jilted him "the all star defensive back" turned in the key play by speeding 18 yards with a fumble for the clinching touchdown in Buffalo's 23-7 American Football League victory over the Chiefs.

Saimes, primarily noted for his offensive talents when he was an All America at Michigan State in 1962, originally was drafted by the Chiefs. But Buffalo owner Ralph Wilson got to chatting with Saimes when he attended the wedding of Dave Behrman, a Spartan teammate and the Bills' No. 1 draft choice.

One thing led to another, Wilson was asking Saimes if he'd like to play in Buffalo and Saimes was saying, "I do."

A trade promptly was arranged and Saimes moved over to Buffalo. When the Bills became pressed for defensive help, Saimes moved over to safety.

Safety Blitz

A master of the safety blitz, he tried the maneuver against the Chiefs midway in the fourth quarter with Buffalo holding a precarious 10-7 lead, jarred quarterback Pete Beathard loose from the ball and raced for the touchdown that put it out of reach.

Defenders also played key roles in the other two games. Western Division leading San Diego threw back repeated Boston threats in the second half and a holding on for a 13-13 tie and defensive back John Griffin scored Denver's final two touchdowns in a 28-17 victory over Houston.

In a Saturday night game, the New York Jets and Oakland Raiders played to a 24-24 tie.

The Bills, who have been unable to mount a sustained offense with receivers Elbert Dubenion and Green Bass out for the season, trailed the Chiefs 7-3 going into the final quarter. Then the defense took over.

Tackle Steve Barber recovered a Willie Mitchell fumble on the Kansas City 30 and on the next play Darvie Lamonea threw a touchdown pass to Charley Ferguson for a 10-7 lead. Three plays later, Saimes broke through and broke it open.

Pete Gogolak added two field goals, after an interception and a fumble recovery by Hagood Clarke as the Eastern Division led the Chiefs 21-14.

The Patriots, now 0-5-1, took a 7-3 lead against the Chargers on Babe Parilli's 73-yard touchdown pass to Ron Burton but San Diego pulled ahead at the half 13-7 on John Hadl's 84-yard strike to Lance Alworth and a 10-yard field goal by Herb Trautman.

The Chargers, the league's lone remaining unbeaten team with four victories and two ties, then spent the rest of the day turning back Boston threats with a pair of field goals by Gino Cappelletti finally pulling the Patriots even.

Griffin Goes

The Oilers, 2-3, led 17-14 when Griffin went to work for the Broncos. 3-3 Rookie end Max Leezow blocked a punt by Jim Norton and Griffin grabbed it and rambled 10 yards for a touchdown. Then, in the final two minutes, he stole a George Blanda pass and went 44 yards for another score.

Tom Flores passed for two touchdowns for the Raiders 3-2-1, but reserve quarterback Mike Taliaferro finally tied it for the Jets, 0-4-1, with a three yard scoring flip to Don Maynard in the fourth quarter. Taliaferro took over for Joe Namath, who completed only five of 21 passes for 130 yards.

Boy, 14, Dies Shortly After Being Tackled

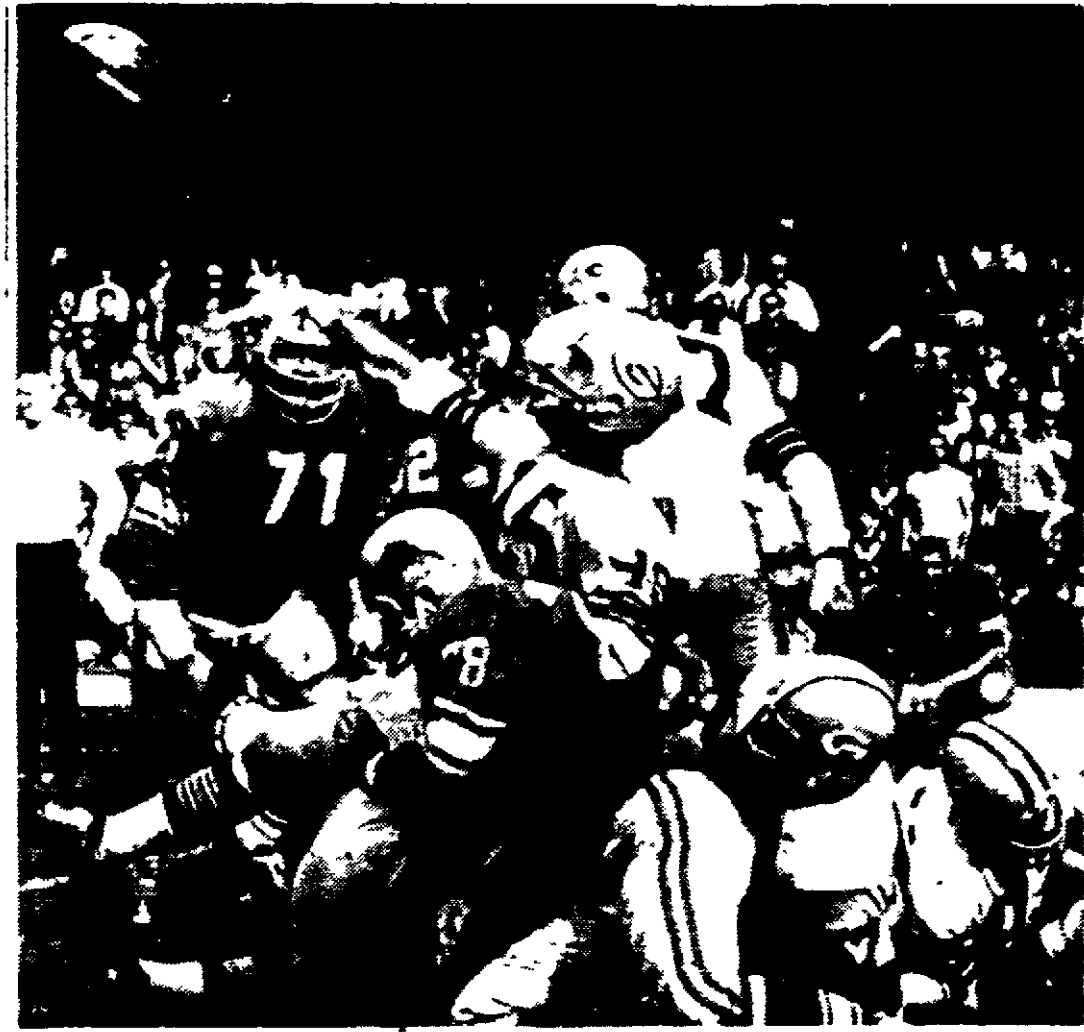

BISTOL, Pa. (AP) — Michael Muchowski, 14, of Cornwell Heights, Pa., collapsed and died Sunday shortly after being tackled during a 125-pound football game on an athletic field at this Bucks County community.

About 150 persons were watching the game. Witnesses said Muchowski, a halfback, was carrying the ball when he plunged into the line and was tackled.

His team went into a huddle shortly after the pile up. When the huddle broke, the boy stood up and asked the referee for time out.

He then collapsed and was rushed to Lower Bucks County Hospital in an ambulance. He died in the ambulance.

An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death, which officials believe may have been caused by internal injuries or a broken neck.

Green Bay Packer quarterback Bart Starr, going down while completely surrounded by teammates and Detroit Lion players, still manages to get his pass away from a sitting position in the second period of the game in Briggs Stadium Sunday. Starr led the Packers' second half rally that netted a 31-21 win. (AP Wirephoto)

49ers Roll Over Rams, 45-21

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams attempt to snap a three game losing streak faces graver problems than to beat such teams as Baltimore, Green Bay, Cleveland, Detroit and one or two more.

If they can't accomplish this, it may be a long time from September to September — of 1966 — for the winning team. Their last triumph was 30-28 over the Chicago Bears Sept. 26.

The San Francisco 49ers clouted out a 45-21 victory Sunday in National Football League play, prompting Ram Coach Harland Svore to observe:

"We just played bad football. We'll fight our way out of this some way. Nothing lasts forever."

Three Ram Miscues

A crowd of 38,615 saw the 49ers reap 21 points on three Ram miscues in the second quarter and trail by 28-7 at the half.

The Rams mastered the 49ers, 34-13, Sept. 11. But that was a pre-season game. The difference?

"We just out hit them this time," said Jack Christiansen, the 49ers' coach. "The players looked at the pictures of that game. They decided this wouldn't happen again."

The Rams' best ball carrier Dick Bass, got up slower and slower," Christiansen continued to illustrate the hitting that went on.

The Ram QB, Bill Munson, spent the sunny afternoon running for help.

"It was not his fault. It is

Robertson and Lucas Spark Royals' Win

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas went on a scoring spree right after halftime Sunday night to give Cincinnati a 20-point lead and the Royals coasted to a 144-124 National Basketball Association victory over the Baltimore Bullets.

The lead changed hands 16 times in the first half before Happy Hairston's lay-up shot put Cincinnati ahead for keeps with 142 left in the half. The Royals' edge in the first half was from the free throw line but they connected with 13 of 24 field goal attempts in the quarter when they put the game away.

Baltimore played most of the game with Gus Johnson, who fractured his left wrist in a first quarter fall, and both Wali Bellamy and Bailey Howell fouled out in the final minutes.

Robertson ended up with 37 points and 12 assists. Lucas scored 30 points and pulled down 22 rebounds. Don Ohl led the Bullets with 34 points while Howell contributed 25.

Texas Tech's Anderson Lives Up to Notices

Returns Opening Kick 103 Yards To Pace Victory

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Doony Anderson is living up to his press notices as an All America and producing great moments in Texas Tech's football campaign.

But the fans wish dauntless Doony would pull his heroics earlier. It's affecting the hearts of the people in the South Plains.

Anderson made his longest run yet Saturday night when he sped 103 yards with the opening kickoff and led Texas Tech to a 17-14 victory over Oklahoma State. He triggered affixed with a 31-yard run, and that was the eventual difference.

But it was that winning touchdown that again had the crowd in a stew—just like it had been in the previous two games. Anderson ripped off a 37-yard punt return to set it up with only a couple of minutes remaining.

In the 28-24 victory over Texas Christian the week before, Anderson ran 54 yards for a touchdown, 67 yards to set up another and took a 30-yard pass to lead the charge to the winning touchdown in the last minutes.

Beat Texas A&M

And the week before that Texas Tech beat Texas A&M 20-16 and it was Anderson who made the heart of the South Plains beat like a trip-hammer. He took a lateral and raced 37 yards to the touchdown with 1:38 left.

Anderson is probably the greatest all-around back in Southwest Conference history. He does so many things they are thinking about having him take up the tickets at odd moments.

He leads the conference in pass-receiving with 31 catches for 390 yards and four touchdowns. He tops in scoring with 36 points, he leads in kickoff returns with 13 for 397 yards, he's sixth in rushing with 264 yards on 67 runs and he has punted for an average of 37.4.

Not only that but he has been playing defense lately what with some key defensive men out with injuries. And the guy is as good at that as anybody on the team.

Cards Trip Steelers For Fourth Win, 20-7

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charbonneau 55 and Johnson sneaked ley Johnson hit Billy Joe Conrad for the necessary yardage, set with a 71-yard scoring toss in tizing up Bakken's field goal. the opening seconds of the International grounding called fourth quarter and the St. Louis on Johnson set the ball back to Cardinals went on to defeat the Pittsburgh's 49 but Johnson Pittsburgh Steelers 20-7 Sunday passed to Randall to the Pitts- in a National Football League burzh 32 and Bakken kicked the game.

The toss by Johnson, constantly harrassed by a charging Pittsburgh line, came after Jim Bakken's first of two field goals broke a 7-7 tie in the third quarter.

The Cardinals' victory gave them a 4-1 record. Pittsburgh is winless in five starts.

The Steelers' defensive unit had effectively bottled the Cards, who went into the game leading the league in passing and rushing yardage.

Take 7-0 Lead

The Cards took a 7-0 lead in the first period on Johnson's passing in a drive that covered 61 yards in seven plays. Johnson hit Sonny Randle with a 38-yard pass that placed the ball on the Pittsburgh 13. Three plays later on he hooked up with Randle on a scoring toss that covered eight yards.

Pittsburgh received the kick-off but was unable to move and Jon Brittonum, Arkansas — Frank Lambert punted to the Cardinal five, where Abe Woodson fumbled and Steeler line-backer Ed Pine recovered. Gary Ballman lugged it over for the touchdown and Mike Clark converted.

Set Up Field Goal

In the third quarter, the Cards Completed 16 of 25 passes for gambled with a fourth down and 185 yards in upsetting West Virginia to go situation on the Pittsburgh 41-0.

The Cards iced the game with Johnson's scoring pass to Conrad. Bakken added three insurance points in the fourth quarter with a 35-yard field goal.

The Cards went into the game tied with the Cleveland Browns for the Eastern lead. Cleveland played Dallas.

Fleet-Footed Chicago Bear rookie Gale Sayers races 96 yards to a fourth-period touchdown on a kick-off return in Sunday's National Football League game in which the Bears downed the Minnesota Vikings on the latter's home grounds, 45-37. Minnesota's Bob Walden vainly pursues Sayers, who gained 324 yards while handling the ball only 22 times. The 96-yard return gave the Bears a 38-37 lead with 2:18 left in the game. (AP Wirephoto) with the pros." Sayers confessed "I've surprised myself."

2 Best Rookies

"When we signed Sayers and Butkus," Halas said, "we got the two best rookies we've had since 1940 when we signed George McAfee and Bulldog Turner."

"Sayers could be the greatest of them all. Right now, he's as good as anybody we've ever had, and he's only a rookie."

"He's a great pass-catcher, but we feel he's more valuable as a halfback. He can do anything."

The 6-foot, 200-pounder is something to see when he sets sail with a football.

But he's not just fast. He's a tough runner, hard to bring down. He repeatedly broke Viking tackles.

He said, "All I had to do was run" on the 96-yard kickoff return. "The blockers opened a hole a mile wide. They just opened it up and I went through."

Perfect Return

"He just took off," Coach Norm Van Brocklin of the Vikings said. "It was a perfect return, that's all. He beat us with the play we were afraid of—the kick return."

Sayers cut past trailing Viking tacklers at midfield and was looking over his shoulder for would-be pursuers by the time he reached the Minnesota 20.

Then Bear linebacker Dick Butkus picked off a Fran Tarkenton pass with 1:30 remaining and lumbered 35 yards to set up an insurance Chicago touchdown with a minute left.

Sayers also scored that one—on Chicago's first play from the 10 where Butkus earned the interception.

Minnesota had scored a touchdown with 2:30 left on a 70-yard drive to take a 37-31 lead, sending Tommy Mason into the end zone from the four.

Chicago's late-game explosion triggered by Sayers came just as suddenly as two quick Bear touchdowns in the first six minutes for a 14-0 lead.

The Vikings kept pecking good as anybody we've ever had, and he's only a rookie.

Giants Shock Eagles As Morrall Hurls 4 Touchdown Passes

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — "I didn't bring you here to fill anybody's shoes. I brought you here to be Earl Morrall, not a title." That was Alie Sherman's greeting to his new quarterback when they met at the New York Giants' camp in early September.

"I'm not buying that inconsistency tag they've hung on you," said Sherman. "What do you say? Let's go on from here."

Morrall went on from there, a little slowly at first but he hit his peak Sunday with four touchdowns passes against Philadelphia in a 35-27 Giant victory today," said one reporter when Sherman repeated his story of September.

"I'm certainly not going to chase him for that," said Alie. "He did a great job. He went to the right guy and executed well. He called a fine game."

Destroyed Pattern

"He could have gone out there today and forced himself. The fans might have started yelling 'bring back Y.A.' but he's an old pro. He stuck with what he had to do. If he had thrown 35 or 36 times, he would have destroyed our pattern."

Sherman revealed Morrall had been his target since the spring if the young quarterbacks didn't prove out for this season. He said he preferred Morrall over Milt Plum of Des Moines because he was "more suited to our type of club."

Morrall threw only 15 but completed 10 passes for 296 yards.

Once again Sherman mentioned the "big price" he had to pay for Morrall, with emphasis on guard Darrell Dess. Ironically, Morrall and his family now live in Dess' apartment in Norwalk, Conn.

"It was a big game for me," said Morrall. "I knew I was on the spot. It has taken time to get adjusted to the team and the pass routes. But when you know you're going to play, even if you make a mistake, it gives you more confidence in trying things that might be risky."

The crowd of 62,615 liked what it saw in the Giants' home opener, their third victory in five starts. Morrall threw a 71-yard TD pass to Aaron Thomas, a 46-yarder to Joe Morrison, an 89-yard Giant record pass to Homer Jones and a two-yard scorer to Bob Crespiro. Jerry Hill's brand added the other TD with a 25-yard run after intercepting a King Hill pass.

Cost Hindering New Freeway in South of State
Legislators See Need of Project for Rock-Milwaukee
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — An east-west freeway in southern Wisconsin to connect populous Rock County and other counties with Milwaukee has been advocated for years and has been championed increasingly during recent legislative sessions by southern Wisconsin representatives.
But it is now getting more prominent discussion as an example of the needed and desired major highway improvements that cannot be had, according to state officials, unless the state is willing to undertake a long-term borrowing program to finance an acceleration of major route construction.
The southern Wisconsin freeway would extend generally along the route now followed by antiquated and worn State 15, about which area legislators have complained in legislative resolutions many times. Highway officials have said the freeway's western terminus would probably be at a point between Janesville and Beloit, the two principal communities in Rock County.
G. H. Bakke, chairman of the State Highway Commission, has estimated the cost of such a project at about $40 million.
Under existing finance arrangements, it would be a "40-year undertaking," as he put it, because the commission probably will be unable to allocate more than a million dollars a year to it in view of its many other commitments and the rising cost of maintenance on the state highway system.

Two Sites on Green Bay
Department Seeks Four State Harbors for Boats
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Four additional harbors-of-refuge for the immediate benefit of boaters in northeastern Wisconsin were included in a harbor development proposal made public here today by the State Department of Resource Development.
The sites would be at Hika, near Cleveland, and at Two Creeks, in Manitowish County, at Peshtigo in Marinette County on Green Bay, and at Dykesville in Brown County. The blueprint for a series of such small craft refuges along the state's boundary waters, including the Mississippi River in western Wisconsin, was prepared by a Milwaukee consulting engineer employed by the department.

Udall to Visit 6th District; Inspect Wolf
Secretary of Interior To See Proposed Ice Age Reserve
Sixth District Rep. John A. Race, Fond du Lac, announced today that Stewart Udall, secretary of the interior, will visit the Sixth Congressional District Nov. 9.
Race said that Udall will inspect the proposed Ice Age National Reserve, the Neenah Slough, and that part of the Wolf River which Race has proposed to be a part of a national system of Wild Rivers.
Race said that "other areas of interest to this part of Wisconsin might be included in Mr. Udall's schedule, if time permits."
Race said that Rep. Henry Reuss, Milwaukee, author of legislation to create the Ice Age Reserve, and Rep. Lynn Stalbaum, Racine, will accompany the group on that section of the tour.
Race said that he would also invite Rep. Melvin Laird, Marshfield, to join the group to inspect a section of the Wolf River in Menominee County. Laird recently joined Race in introducing legislation which would set aside a section of the Wolf to be designated as a Wild River.
Race is a member of the House Interior Committee and National Parks and Recreation Sub-Committee which will consider the Wild Rivers legislation.
"I have asked Secretary Udall to tour these areas," said Race, "because I believe that we must begin now to plan the use of our resources for the future. Unless we take positive steps soon, our choice wetlands, our fresh water assets, and our valuable forest land shall be lost forever."
Race said that the four would be climaxed with a "Sixth District Conservation Dinner" in Fond du Lac.

Missile Launcher Hit by U. S. Jets In North Viet Nam

5 American Planes Lost in Air Raids During Weekend

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, southwest of Hanoi. The pilots (AP) — U.S. jets smashed a Soviet-supplied missile launcher in North Viet Nam over the weekend, but five American planes were lost in other raids on the Communist north, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

Four of the American airmen were presumed captured and two other were killed when three Navy planes were lost Sunday 40 miles north of Hanoi, the spokesman said. Two U.S. fliers were listed as missing after two Air Force jets were lost Saturday on a raid south-west of Hanoi.

Peking broadcasts claimed seven U.S. planes were downed and several pilots captured in North Viet Nam, which has threatened to try captured American pilots as war criminals.

Eight Tons

Four A4 Sky Hawks and an A6 Intruder from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Independence hit the mobile anti-aircraft missile unit with eight tons of bombs. Pilots said they left a missile smoking on the ground and launchers and 10 vehicles in flames. The missiles, supplied by the Soviet Union, are believed accompanied by Soviet technicians. There was no mention of personnel casualties at the site, 52 miles northeast of Hanoi.

U.S. aircraft are known to be hunting at least five of the mobile missile units, which can be assembled or dismantled within 24 hours.

The Defense Department says five U.S. planes have been knocked down by Soviet-supplied missiles. Launchers are permanently installed around Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

Pilots on the missile raid reported heavy ground fire but all five planes returned safely, a spokesman said.

However, heavy Communist ground fire knocked down two F4 Phantoms from the Independence and a third crashed into a mountain side during a 16-plane strike against a highway bridge north of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

Returning pilots said four of the American parachuted and were seen on the ground. Enemy troops were spotted in the area.

U.S. briefing officers said Communist ground fire downed one F105 Thunderchief and another disappeared during a four-plane raid Saturday 70 miles

Berlin Youth Dies in Crash With Truck

Ronald Johnson, 19, Killed Outright; State Counts 8

A Berlin youth, Ronald C. Johnson, 19, was killed when the car he was driving collided with a semi-trailer truck on State 21 about 2:30 a.m. today.

Johnson is the 15th traffic fatality in Winnebago County this year, was one of eight who died in traffic in the state, and raised the state death count for the year to 793 compared with 860 one year ago.

Winnebago County police said the accident occurred one and one-half miles east of Omro as Johnson was heading west and the truck, being driven by Gordon F. Larsen, 44, route 4, Waupaca, was headed east.

Police said the impact occurred in the truck's lane of traffic.

Killed Outright

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said Johnson was killed outright and died of a severe skull fracture. Larsen told authorities he was almost stopped when the car crashed into his cab. He said he thought the car would go into a farm field as it was on the shoulder of the road, but then it suddenly crossed in front of him and hit the truck head-on.

D. Y. Beach, 27, Madison, was killed Sunday night when his car and another automobile collided on Highway 12, north of Middleton, a Madison suburb. Beach was alone in his car. Four persons in the other automobile were injured.

Marvin Wickstrom, 43, St. Paul, Minn., died Saturday night when the car in which he was riding struck a bridge near Bruce in Rusk County.

Five persons, all 21 years old or younger, became victims in the early hours of the weekend. Edward Bliefenicht Jr., 19, of Watertown, and Thomas G. Ruder, 21, Oconomowoc, were killed early Saturday when Bliefenicht's car overturned on Highway 26 near Watertown.

James E. Kawalske, 18, Wisconsin Rapids, was killed Friday night when the car in which he was a passenger hit a tree along a Wood County road.

Miss Elona Tuchalski, 19, Milwaukee, was injured fatally Friday night when the car in which she was riding veered off a rural road near Elkhorn.

Harvey W. Johnson, 18, Denmark, died Friday night in the collision of his car and a freight train in Denmark.

Murder Victim Was Beaten, Autopsy Says

Man Found in Winnebago Still Unidentified; List Age at Between 18 and 19

BY DOUG KOPLIEN

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Officials of the Winnebago County Sheriff's department and the Oshkosh Police Department this morning went out to the scene where the nude body of an 18-19 year old youth was found early Saturday afternoon floating in Lake Winnebago with his hands and legs bound and a rock tied to his ankles to

OSHKOSH — First autopsy reports on the nude man found early Saturday afternoon floating in Lake Winnebago indicate he was between 18 and 19 years old and that he had suffered a severe beating.

Art C. Miller, Winnebago County coroner, said the report showed the youth had taken a Hillcrest Drive, Kaukauna. He was beating around the head with a blunt instrument. He did not discount the possibility of fists being the instrument.

Winnebago County Sheriff Department Lt. Richard Guenther said muck and water were found in the victim's lungs and determination as to whether the cause of death was the beating or drowning still is pending.

The youth, Miller said, was about six feet four and one-half inches tall and weighed about 207 pounds. He had sandy or blond hair, he stated.

Lt. Guenther said his office is investigating disappearance of Stephen Walter Kappell, 18, who disappeared from Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh Sept. 29 and who could fit the description of the body which was found.

Kappell was a freshman student and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kappell, 1017 Hillcrest Drive, Kaukauna. He graduated from Kaukauna High School in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Kappell viewed the body when it was at Winnebago State Hospital but were unable to confirm or deny its identity as that of their son. Authorities also are checking on a Milwaukee man, Dennis Edgerton, 22, who has been missing since Sept. 18 and was a service station operator. He was last seen getting into a car with an unidentified woman at the Milwaukee station.

Miller said the autopsy showed two blackened eyes, hemorrhaging of both sides of the head and jaw, deep bruises on the back of the head and the front of the neck and bruises on the chest and above the right wrist.

Divers at Scene

The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Helen Young of the Milwaukee Medical Examiner's Board Sunday.

Lt. Guenther said skindivers on the scene Saturday afternoon did not turn up anything but investigations in the area, on the northeastern part of the city near the breakwater at Miller's Point, will continue.

Authorities have indicated it could not be "anything but a murder." The body was weighted down by a 12-inch diameter stone which weighed about 30 pounds, they said.

Lt. Guenther said Dr. Young had indicated she was unable to determine how long the body had been in the water because there have been bodies which have decomposed more than this one after only three or four

Klansman on Trial Again in Rights Killing

Attorney General Will Prosecute Hayneville Case

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klansman accused of killing civil rights worker Viola Liuzzo goes on trial again today with a new prosecutor and a new defense attorney.

State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, who had announced earlier that he was taking over the prosecution of Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., reaffirmed that decision on the eve of the trial. He said he planned to handle the prosecution, rather than through an assistant.

He notified the regular prosecutor, Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., by letter that Gamble had been removed from the case for refusing to agree to a postponement.

Local Pressure In Washington Sunday in a television interview, Flowers said he had taken charge of the trial because he would not be subject to "local political pressure."

The attorney general, invoking a provision in Alabama law which gives him jurisdiction as the state's chief attorney, took over the Wilkins case last month.

At the same time, he took over Gamble's duties in the trial of special Deputy Sheriff Thomas L. Coleman in another civil rights slaying and asked Judge Th. Werth Thagard to postpone the case.

Thagard refused, and in swift succession, ousted the attorney general from the Coleman and the Wilkins cases.

Coleman, charged with manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of Jonathan Daniels, a Keene, N.H., seminary student, was acquitted on a self-defense plea.

Some Motives Questioned

Demonstration Promoters Are Pleased With Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Hall in defense of U.S. policy in agents today seized David J. Viet Nam Sunday.

Miller, 22, who publicly burned what he claimed to be his draft card during a public rally protesting U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Two agents arrested Miller on a street in Hooksett, N.H., as he left a hotel and walked to a nearby garage. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Miller was arrested when he failed to produce required draft documents.

Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles, commenting Sunday on the arrest Saturday of 11 Viet Nam demonstrators at the gates of the Truax Air Force Base, Madison, said he finds "a rising tide" of demonstrators "have no objections to these demonstrations. The consensus is, the University of Wisconsin and the state are not simply peaceful protesters, but a part of the other side. One cannot tolerate civil disobedience no matter what the protest is, and the demonstrators might as well have worn Viet Cong uniforms."

In Philadelphia, about 40 members of the Lansdowne-Vietnam Chamber of the Viet Nam Day Committee, held a one-hour demonstration "prayer march" around City Hall.

Fear More Violence In Dominican Capital

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — More violence is feared in Santo Domingo as the result of the killing of a conservative political leader with Communist placards.

The provisional government canceled all civilian arms permits in an effort to prevent shootings by vengeful friends of the slain man, Angel Severo Cabral, 36.

A heavily armed guard was thrown around the cemetery where Cabral was buried Sunday. The angry crowd burned a Jeep of the government radio station and beat up its driver.

Another radio station which had supported the rebels went off the air after an unidentified armed group attacked its transmitters just outside the capital.

Despite 'Freedom Class' Ban

Children Gather at Church in Milwaukee School Rights Boycott

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A planned to have a freedom group of Negro school children sang freedom songs outside a Milwaukee Roman Catholic church today where many of the pupils boycotting the city's public schools had planned to attend "freedom" classes.

The use of the church facilities of St. Boniface Parish for the "freedom" classes was specifically banned Sunday night by order of Auxiliary Bishop Roman R. Atkielski, but the children gathered anyway this morning.

The children were led in the singing by the Rev. James Groppi, assistant pastor at the church, and a vice chairman of the civil rights group organizing the boycott.

Father Groppi was one of a group of about 50 priests and nuns who had planned to participate in the boycott before Bishop Atkielski intervened. He said the boycott would be illegal.

Children Arrive About 75 to 100 children who had been scheduled to attend classes arrived at St. Boniface.

Asked what she planned to do with the children, Sister Marie Leclerc, principal of the school, replied, "You tell me. We had sent May 18, 1964, in the city's only previous boycott.

Sentinel Quote

Bishop Atkielski was quoted by the Milwaukee Sentinel last week as prohibiting participation in the boycott in any way.

They've come here and they've found the doors closed," Father Groppi said.

Earlier, Father Eugene Bliedorn, St. Boniface pastor, preaching at the children's Mass, asked the children to join with him in praying for the school board.

Major Conflict "I ask you children," he said, "to pray to God with me and ask His blessings on Milwaukee, especially that its school board will be moved to the right thing it should be doing."

The conflict between a bishop's religious authority, held by Catholic doctrine to be virtually absolute within his diocese, and the priests' argument that they must follow their personal conscience overshadowed the start of the boycott itself today.

The school protest, scheduled to last indefinitely, was called to dramatize charges of severe de facto segregation in Milwaukee schools.

Leaders said they were preparing space in the "freedom schools" for as many as 16,000 pupils from among the 120,000 enrolled in public classrooms. School officials said approximately 11,900 pupils were ab-

Ripon and Lawrence, the unbeaten co-leaders of the Mid-west Conference, had to struggle to subdue "poorly rated but stubborn" foes Saturday as they staggered toward their 100th showdown this week.

The Vikings and Redmen kept up their records to 4-0 in preparation for the duel for the lead as Ripon overcame Coe 13-7 and Lawrence topped Knox 14-10.

The Redmen were unable to score a touchdown until less than four minutes were left in their come-from-behind decision over Coe, victorious in only one of four games this year. Lawrence also needed a fourth quarter rally to down winless Knox.

St. Olaf handed Beloit its second straight loss 24-7. Grinnell kept on the heels of the leaders with a narrow 26-19 triumph over Monmouth and Carleton conquered Cornell 33-29 in other Saturday games.

Two field goals by Carl Dean kept Ripon in its game after Coe seized a 7-0 lead in a 23-yard touchdown pass by Bill Wendling in the first quarter.

Coe stopped a fourth quarter Ripon thrust on its own one and intercepted a pass to break up another drive but the Redmen finally marched 30 yards for the victory with Dick Kuehl passing nine yards to Doug Bradley for the touchdown.

Don Buresh threw three touchdown passes for Carleton in its close victory over winless Cornell of Iowa. Grinnell, with only a loss to Ripon on its record, wiped out a six-point deficit in the last 2½ minutes to beat Monmouth with two late touchdowns, the second on a 47-yard pass interception by Bob Watt.

The Lawrence-Ripon showdown is scheduled this Saturday at Ripon. Beloit will be host to Grinnell.

Florida State Posts 10-3 Win Over Georgia

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Sophomore Bill Moreman scored on a brilliant 20-yard run in the final quarter and gave Florida State a come-from-behind 10-3 upset of fifth-ranked Georgia Saturday night.

The elusive run by the half-back, a member of the kicking team playing his first game on offense, capped a 47-yard drive which started late in the third quarter.

The touchdown came on the first play of the fourth quarter. Pete Roberts added the kick with 14:52 left to play in the game.

The Seminoles also scored a field goal in the fourth quarter after linebacker Bill McDowell recovered a fumble by end Pat Hodgson on the Georgia 20.

The Bulldogs lost star half back Bob Taylor in the third quarter when he broke his right leg on a six-yard gain through the Seminole line.

Georgia's kicking specialist Bobby Etter put his team on the scoreboard with 2:23 in the second quarter with a 38-yard kick.

Vike Harriers Post Initial Victory, 21-34

The Lawrence University cross-country team recorded its first win of the season Saturday by defeating Knox College at Gainesburg, Ill., by a score of 21-34.

Henry Kaiser, captain of the Lawrence team, took first place with a time of 24:16. Steve Sedwick of the Vikes was runner-up and Bill Duck, Knox, placed third.

Other Lawrence runners and their places included John Howe fourth, Wayne Draeger, sixth, Art Van Deusen, eighth, Jim Fram, 11th, and Mike Barrack, 12th.

The next varsity meet will be at Ripon Saturday while the Viking freshman will be in a quadrangular test Tuesday with Neenah, Kaukauna and Appleton high school teams at the Ridgeway Country Club.

Auto Racing Mishaps Take Four Lives

Two Spectators Killed in Indiana; New Yorker Dies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two drivers and two spectators were killed in auto racing accidents at three different sites Sunday.

The most serious accident occurred at Salem Ind. where a stock car being warmed up by a mechanic crashed through an infield fence at Salem Speedway and killed two spectators while they were spreading a picnic lunch.

The victims were Hayden Daugherty and Mrs. Cornelia Ferris, both of Louisville, Ky. The accident, in which no one else was injured, occurred before the 100-mile Kentuckiana Stock car race.

State police said the car was driven by Steve Doninger, a mechanic who was warming it up for Driver Forrest Moore.

At Charlotte, N.C., Harold Kite of Augusta, Ga., was killed and Jimmy Helms of Charlotte injured in a spectacular five-car pileup in the first lap of the National 400 stock car race.

At Watkins Glen, N.Y., Edward Mathias of Buffalo, N.Y., was killed when his late-model sports car swerved out of control, flew through the air and smashed into a tree.

Lorenzen Nips Foyt in '400'

Augusta Driver Killed in 5-Car Crash on First Lap

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Racing neck and neck at speeds reaching 145 miles an hour, Fred Lorenzen outdueled "the guy I've always wanted to beat" Sunday and won the National 400 stock car race.

The race was marred by a five-car smashup in the first lap which killed Harold Kite of Augusta, Ga., and injured Jimmy Helms of Charlotte.

Lorenzen, from Elmhurst, Ill., found himself in a battle for the lead against two-time Indianapolis winner A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., with more than 50 laps to go.

In 37 laps they traded the lead five times. The duel ended with six laps to go when Foyt bumped the guard rail on the fourth turn and had to maneuver to the infield. He was back on the track after a short pit stop and finished sixth.

Both Lorenzen and Foyt drove factory-backed Fords. The second, third and fourth finishers, Dick Hutcherson, Curtis Turner and Ned Jarrett, also drove Fords. Fifth was Lee Roy Yarborough in a Chevrolet.

The wreck occurred when Frank Warren of Augusta, Ga., spun out on the fourth turn. This caused several other cars to spin some of them crashing against one another.

Missile Launcher Hit by U. S. Jets In North Viet Nam

5 American Planes Lost in Air Raids During Weekend

SAIGON, South Viet Nam. (AP) — U.S. jets smashed a Soviet-supplied missile launcher in North Viet Nam over the weekend, but five American planes were lost in other raids on the Communist north, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

Four of the American airmen were presumed captured and two other were killed when three Navy planes were lost Sunday 40 miles north of Hanoi, the spokesman said. Two U.S. fliers were listed as missing after two Air Force jets were lost Saturday on a raid southwest of Hanoi.

Peking broadcasts claimed seven U.S. planes were downed and several pilots captured in North Viet Nam, which has threatened to try captured American pilots as war criminals.

Eight Tons

Four A4 Sky Hawks and an A6 Intruder from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Independence hit the mobile antiaircraft missile unit with eight tons of bombs. Pilots said they left a missile smoking on the ground and launchers and 10 vehicles in flames. The missiles, supplied by the Soviet Union, are believed accompanied by Soviet technicians. There was no mention of personnel casualties at the site, 52 miles northeast of Hanoi.

U.S. aircraft are known to be hunting at least five of the mobile missile units, which can be assembled or dismantled within 24 hours.

The Defense Department says five U.S. planes have been knocked down by Soviet-supplied missiles. Launchers are permanently installed around Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

Pilots on the missile raid reported heavy ground fire but all five planes returned safely, a spokesman said.

However, heavy Communist ground fire knocked down two F4 Phantoms from the Independence and a third crashed into a mountain side during a 16-plane strike against a highway bridge north of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

Returning pilots said four of the American parachuted and were seen on the ground. Enemy troops were spotted in the area.

U.S. briefing officers said Communist ground fire downed one F105 Thunderchief and another disappeared during a four-plane raid Saturday 70 miles

Berlin Youth Dies in Crash With Truck

Ronald Johnson, 19, Killed Outright; State Counts 8

A Berlin youth, Ronald C. Johnson, 19, was killed when the car he was driving collided with a semi-trailer truck on State 21 about 2:30 a.m. today.

Johnson is the 15th traffic fatality in Winnebago County this year, was one of eight who died in traffic in the state, and raised the state death count for the year to 793 compared with 860 one year ago.

Winnebago County police said the accident occurred one and one-half miles east of Omro as Johnson was heading west and the truck, being driven by Gordon F. Larsen, 44, route 4, Waupaca, was headed east.

Police said the impact occurred in the truck's lane of traffic.

Killed Outright

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said Johnson was killed outright and died of a severe skull fracture. Larsen told authorities he was almost stopped when the car crashed into his cab. He said he thought the car would go into a farm field as it was on the shoulder of the road, but then it suddenly crossed in front of him and hit the truck headon.

D. Y. Beach, 27, Madison, was killed Sunday night when his car and another automobile collided on Highway 12, north of Middleton, a Madison suburb. Beach was alone in his car. Four persons in the other automobile were injured.

Marvin Wickstrom, 43, St. Paul, Minn., died Saturday night when the car in which he was riding struck a bridge near Bruce in Rusk County.

Five persons, all 21 years old or younger, became victims in the early hours of the weekend. Edward Biefernicht Jr., 19, of Watertown, and Thomas G. Ruder, 21, Oconomowoc, were killed early Saturday when Biefernicht's car overturned on Highway 26 near Watertown.

James E. Kowalske, 18, Wisconsin Rapids, was killed Friday night when the car in which he was a passenger hit a tree along a Wood County road.

Miss Elona Tuchalski, 19, Milwaukee, was injured fatally Friday night when the car in which she was riding veered off a rural road near Elkhorn.

Harvey W. Johnson, 18, Denmark, died Friday night in the collision of his car and a freight train in Denmark.

Murder Victim Was Beaten, Autopsy Says

Officials of the Winnebago County Sheriff's department and the Oshkosh Police Department this morning went out to the scene where the nude body of an 18-19 year old youth was found early Saturday afternoon floating in Lake Winnebago with his hands and legs bound and a rock tied to his ankles to

Man Found in Winnebago Still Unidentified; List Age at Between 18 and 19

BY DOUG KOPLIEN Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — First autopsy reports on the nude man found early Saturday afternoon floating in Lake Winnebago indicate he was between 18 and 19 years old and that he had suffered a severe beating.

Art C. Miller, Winnebago County coroner, said the report showed the youth had taken a Hillicrest Drive, Kaukauna. He beating around the head with a blunt instrument. He did not discount the possibility of fists being the instrument.

Winnebago County Sheriff Department Lt. Richard Guenther said muck and water were found in the victim's lungs and determination as to whether the cause of death was the beating or drowning still is pending.

The youth, Miller said, was about six feet four and one-half inches tall and weighed about 207 pounds. He had sandy or blond hair, he stated.

Miller said the autopsy showed two blackened eyes, hemorrhaging of both sides of the head and jaw, deep bruises on the back of the head and the front of the neck and bruises on the chest and above the right wrist.

Divers at Scene

The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Helen Young of the Milwaukee Medical Examiner's Board Sunday.

Lt. Guenther said skindivers on the scene Saturday afternoon did not turn up anything but investigations in the area, on the northeastern part of the city near the breakwater at Miller's Point, will continue.

Authorities have indicated it could not be "anything but a murder." The body was weighed down by a 12-inch diameter stone which weighed about 30 pounds, they said.

Lt. Guenther said Dr. Young had indicated she was unable to determine how long the body had been in the water because there have been bodies which have decomposed more than this one after only three or four

Four More Found Dead in Mine In West Virginia

SARDIS, W. Va. (AP) — The bodies of four more miners were removed from a burning coal mine near this central West Virginia community early today, ending a 32-hour effort to save seven men trapped underground by smoke and fire.

The four were found huddled together in a passageway three-quarters of a mile from where the fire broke out late Saturday night.

The bodies of three other victims were found earlier.

Hopes of the more than 100 rescue workers had been raised shortly after midnight with the discovery of a mine regulator. Across the regulator was a message scrawled in chalk: "Couldn't get across." It was signed with the names of the four miners.

E. E. Spott, vice president of Clinchfield Coal Co., said the four apparently had tried to get past the fire, but smoke forced them deeper into the mine which runs several miles back into a mountain.

Attacks Spread Across Sumatra Against Reds

31 Arrested in Disturbances in Southern Areas

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Anti-Communist attacks spread across Sumatra today, the official news agency Antara reported.

The agency said 31 persons were arrested in Palembang, southern Sumatra, and offices of the Indonesian Communist party — PKI — were attacked by an angry crowd in Banda Aceh, northern Sumatra.

Muslim youths turned Communist offices over to security forces in Tebing, Tinggi and Deli Serdang, the report added.

President Sukarno in speeches Sunday and today warned against disunity and renewed his attack against imperialism. He made no mention of the attempted coup Oct. 1, and the tone of his speeches indicated he still did not support the army's crackdown on the Communists.

Military Conflict

"Never let one service (of the armed forces) fight against the other," Sukarno told a group of new air force officers.

This was an apparent reference to the conflict between the army and the air force after the latter's left-leaning commander, Air Vice Marshal Omar Dhanir, was reported to have backed the attempted coup. He is scheduled to leave

Some Motives Questioned

Demonstration Promoters Are Pleased With Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents today seized David J. Miller, 22, who publicly burned what he claimed to be his draft card during a public rally protesting U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Two agents arrested Miller on a street in Hooksett, N.H., as he left a hotel and walked to a nearby garage. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Miller was arrested when he failed to produce required draft documents.

Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles, commenting Sunday on the arrest Saturday of 11 demonstrators at the gates of the Travis Air Force Base, Madison, as they attempted a citizen arrest of the base commander, said the demonstrators "have done a great disservice to themselves, the University of Wisconsin and the state."

Authorities, said Knowles, "cannot tolerate civil disobedience no matter what the professed cause may be."

In Philadelphia, about 40 members of the Lancaster-Yeardon Junior Chamber of Commerce, held a one-hour "prayer march" around City Hall in defense of U.S. policy in movement against the war has increased considerably.

Voice Indignation

Edward R. Lynch, leader of the group, said the counter-march was to "voice our indignation over immature, irresponsible demonstrations" against government policy.

The march followed two days of anti-U.S. policy demonstrations and counter-picketing at City Hall, the University of Pennsylvania, and a Boeing Co. plant in Morton, Pa., where some of the helicopters used in Viet Nam are manufactured.

In San Rafael, Calif., Fred Ulmer, national director of Republicans for Conservative Action, said he finds "a rising tenor of objections to these demonstrations. The consensus is that many demonstrators are not simply peaceful protesters but a part of the other side. One gentleman told me the demonstrators might as well have worn Viet Cong uniforms."

Show Support

Jerry Rubin, spokesman for the Viet Nam Day Committee, contended the demonstrators "showed that support for the

Despite 'Freedom Class' Ban

Children Gather at Church in Milwaukee School Rights Boycott

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—A planned to have a freedom group of Negro school children sang freedom songs outside a Milwaukee Roman Catholic church today where many of the pupils boycotting the city's public schools had planned to attend "freedom" classes.

The use of the church facilities of St. Boniface Parish for the "freedom" classes was specifically banned Sunday night by order of Auxiliary Bishop Roman R. Atkieski, but the children gathered anyway this morning.

The children were led in the singing by the Rev. James Groppi, assistant pastor at the church, and a vice chairman of the civil rights group organizing the boycott.

Father Groppi was one of a group of about 50 priests and nuns who had planned to participate in the boycott before Bishop Atkieski intervened. He said the boycott would be illegal.

Children Arrive

About 75 to 100 children who had been scheduled to attend classes arrived at St. Boniface. Asked what she planned to do with the children, Sister Marie Leclerc, principal of the school, replied, "You tell me. We had planned to have a freedom school here."

Three of the nine nuns in St. Boniface Convent had planned to teach in schools.

Father Groppi said he planned to be working with the freedom schools all over the city. He said he could not speak for the other priests. At the moment he was more concerned with the situation at St. Boniface.

"They've come here and they've found the doors closed," Father Groppi said.

Earlier, Father Eugene Blieder, St. Boniface pastor, preaching at the children's Mass, asked the children to join with him in praying for the school board.

Major Conflict

"I ask you children," he said, "to pray to God with me and ask His blessings on Milwaukee, especially that its school board will be moved to the right thing it should be doing."

The conflict between a bishop's religious authority, held by Catholic doctrine to be virtually absolute within his diocese, and the priests' argument that they must follow their personal conscience overshadowed the start of the boycott itself today.

The school protest, scheduled to last indefinitely, was called to dramatize charges of severe de facto segregation in Milwaukee schools.

Leaders said they were preparing space in the "freedom schools" for as many as 16,000 pupils from among the 120,000 enrolled in public classrooms. School officials said approximately 11,000 pupils were ab-

Result of Killing

Fear More Violence In Dominican Capital

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — More violence is feared in Santo Domingo as a result of the killing of a conservative political leader by the provisional government.

The provisional government canceled a civilian arms permit in an effort to prevent snoots by vengeful friends of the slain man, Angel Severo Cabral, 56.

A heavily armed guard was thrown around the cemetery where Cabral was buried Sunday. The angry crowd burned a Jeep of the government radio station and beat up its driver.

Another radio station which had supported the rebels went off the air after an unidentified armed group attacked its transmitters just outside the capital.

Cabral leader of a right-wing political organization, was shot Saturday night at his home in the former rebel zone as a mob with Communist placards milled about.

His wife and daughter were lightly wounded. The Cabrales had come to remove furniture from their house, which they had left during the April revolt. The mob burned the furniture and the moving truck.

Cabral's daughter, Ada, 26, told newsmen her father was wounded and then took the fatal shot in the ambulance taking him to a hospital. She said she had supported the rebels went off the air after an unidentified armed group attacked its transmitters just outside the capital.

Final Day Crowd Unlike Typical Tourists as Urgency Prevails

BY DICK LYNEIS

NEW YORK — A cosmopolitan crowd of people, many of whom were dressed in the tan and khaki of a half million people flooded into Flushing Meadows here Sunday to transform the final day of the World's Fair into a bustling, crowded bargain hunting bedlam.

The Sunday fair crowd was different from the typical throngs that sent the attendance mark soaring over to fifty million people. One fair guide described it as "a sense of urgency. These people standing in line realize that they don't see it today they'll never have the chance to see it again."

Lines of people waiting to get into the most popular exhibits stretched to lengths of a quarter to a half mile, and at exhibitors' shoes were reduced from $5 to where the animated Walt Dis-82 In the "Pavilion of Paris."

Science Shrinks Piles

New Way Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years standing. All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

How come 900,000 people in Wisconsin are insured by Metropolitan Life?

Your neighbors have really hit on something. They've discovered that when it comes to planning for the future, the place to start is Metropolitan Life—the company with a practical insurance program designed for today's needs and for any and every situation, including yours. For example:

New—the policy that helps pay for itself

If there's one time you don't need any extra expense it's when you're just starting out—raising a family or opening a business. Yet this is precisely the time when you do need plenty of life insurance.

That's where Metropolitan's ingenious new Econo-Matic policy comes in.

The minimum initial amount is $10,000. For this amount, the premium is considerably less than that of our standard policy with a guaranteed face value of $10,000.

The ingenious feature is this: while the guaranteed amount of insurance is lower after two years, application of dividends*—if present levels are continued—will maintain the original amount of coverage for life, for the same low premium.

The Econo-Matic is just part of the up-to-the-minute selection of life and health insurance plans you'd expect from America's leading life insurance company.

Shouldn't you get all the facts and figures from your Metropolitan adviser? He'll give you an enlightening Family Security Check-Up, to boot. Call him soon. Tomorrow, for instance.

There's no obligation... except to those you love.

More choose Metropolitan Life
millions more than any other company

There are many reasons why Metropolitan Life insures 45,000,000 people—more than any other company. One good reason is local, personal service from the Metropolitan advisers at your nearest office:

Bergstrom Net Sales Go Up $2 Million

Earnings Per Stock Share Down Third Quarter Report Says

NEENAH — Bergstrom Paper Co. net sales for the first nine months of 1965 increased more than $2,000,000 compared to the like period of 1964. At the same time net earnings per share of stock were down 36 cents from the same period in 1964.

"We're still not satisfied with our operating efficiencies," Nathan H. Bergstrom, chairman, and H. R. Moore, president, told stockholders in the third quarterly report released today.

"New assignments of personnel and new equipment have plagued our operations," they said. "These problems are being overcome. Also, depreciation on our new paper machine and added interest on our full $6 million bonded debt have increased $600,000 in 1965. When we fully utilize our added papermaking capacity, this higher overhead will be easily absorbed."

Net sales for the nine months ended Sept. 30 were listed at $12,911,257 compared to $10,719,630 in 1964.

Net earnings, after taxes, were listed at $264,042 — or 67 cents per share — compared to $241,916, or $1.03 per share of stock in 1964.

"Our company's sales climbed at a more rapid rate than the overall industry's," the report stated. "Established customers' new growth accounted for much of our sales growth. More favorable government bid business accounted for some of it. New customers and new grades accounted for the balance."

Appleton Man Awarded $275 In Car Accident

Clifford W. Liethen, 200 E. Tenth St., Fridav afternoon was awarded $275 for damage to his car in an accident at the intersection of E. College Avenue and N. Drew Street Nov. 15, 1963.

The award was announced following a decision by a 12-man jury in Outagamie County Court Friday.

Plaintiffs in the case were Liethen and his wife, Donna. Defendants were George A. Royan, 1145 Bartell Drive, and his insurance carrier, Heritage Mutual Insurance Co.

Royan's car and one driven by Mrs. Liethen were involved in the accident. The Liethens sought $795 for damage to the car and for medical treatment for Mrs. Liethen, who said she was injured in the accident.

The jury ruled that Royan was 95 per cent negligent and Mrs. Liethen 5 per cent negligent in causing the accident. The decision came after an hour and 25 minutes of deliberation. The case was heard for two days before County Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

Knowles Promises Better Management Of Water in State

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — You can look for a big push on water in Wisconsin.

That was the promise of Gov. Warren Knowles here Friday afternoon at the conclusion of the Governor's Conference on Water Resources Management.

You can expect improved cooperation and intensified efforts in water management and pollution abatement from the state's public and private interests.

That was the assurance from state leaders for governmental agencies, industry, agriculture, recreation and conservation who participated in the two-day meeting in the state capital.

"I am going to continue to push and will see that we take appropriate action on some of our pressing water problems," Gov. Knowles declared.

The conference had indicated to the chief executive said, that the state is ready to action to save its lakes and streams.

"When the public becomes aroused when it sees a problem it is willing to pay for it by way of taxes. I believe we are at that point now for effective water management."

List of Speakers

A long list of speakers during the two days pointed out and defined the problems. Many conceded that remedies won't be simple. Some indicated that conflicting interests may put up temporary barriers. And nobody thought the price will come cheap.

Gov. Knowles thought Wisconsin might take some tips from New York state's billion dollar crash program which had been explained to the conference on Friday by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

"While some money may come from Washington, we must expect to do a big share of it," And as Rockefeller said, the leadership belongs at the state level," Knowles asserted.

On the point of leadership some differences of opinion were evident among conference speakers. Several thought a new central authority should be set up, as New York has done. Others felt that the state already has enough agencies qualified and authorized to do the job.

Knowles indicated that for the present, at least, the direction must come from the Governor's Committee on Water Resources. John M. Potter, Wisconsin Rapids attorney and a former state senator, is chairman.

The conference had indicated to the chief executive said, that the state is ready to action to save its lakes and streams.

19 Men Initiated Into Group; State Officials Report on Plans

NEW LONDON — Approxi- North Sectional meeting gave mately 125 members of 40 and 8 local persons a chance to visit William Reberg, route 1, a Purple Heart winner and member of the local vulture. Reberg is confined to his home because of a heart ailment.

Nineteen new members were added to the club during the day's events. "Poor Goats," as the initiates are known, began their introduction to the American Legion fun group in the club after the afternoon initiation.

Relative National Official Initiate Martin Clark, Shawano, scored a first for the state. Clark's step-father, Re-nald C. White, was Chief de Chemin de Fer, national head of the organization. It marked the first time a member had been initiated whose relative was a national official.

Portage County vulture, Stevens Point, was in charge of the initiation ceremony. The morning session included a business meeting. Reports on plans for the upcoming year were given by state officers and committee presented reports. Arthur Jacoby, Milwaukee, team captain, will complete the calendar project this week.

New Insurance Plan Studied

County Employees May Consider Updated Policy

Outagamie County employees may be asked to consider a revised and updated group insurance plan following a study being made by the county board's public property and insurance committee.

Committee members met nearly all day Friday with representatives of various group insurance firms. Further proposals from insurance companies will be held at a meeting Tuesday morning, according to Alvin E. Woehler, county executive secretary.

"We are re-evaluating the county's group insurance plan in order to determine its status and will make every effort to bring it in line with insurance plans elsewhere," Woehler said. The insurance plan available to all county employees, has not been reviewed for a number of years, according to Woehler.

Once proposals are reviewed by the committee, it will meet with employees involved under the coverage for their approval.

It is planned to have an insurance proposal ready for the board hearing so that any extra costs involved can come up for budget consideration.

Clintonville Board Okays 4 Elementary School Bids

Meeting Set With Major Contractor

CLINTONVILLE — Electrical, heating, plumbing and elevator bids totaling $285,203 for a new elementary school were approved and a meeting was scheduled with the general contractor for clarity on points regarding sub-contractors, at the Clintonville Joint School District No. 1 Board of Education meeting Saturday afternoon.

The school is to be financed by a $1 million bond issue approved by district voters last February. Low bids totaling $918,695 had been opened last Tuesday, including $563,551 for general contractor, A. W. Jeske Co. of Oshkosh.

Other Costs

Other costs were to include architect's fee of $51,000 for Berners, Senober and Kilp of Green Bay and a contingency fund of $15,000, bringing the total approved to $918,695, or $3,641 less than the total bids opened Tuesday.

The decreases were caused by accepting the low base of bid of $56,202 by Quality Plumbing and Heating of Clintonville for plumbing on the condition that a 60-day option be granted the school board for alternates, the previous low bid having been $59,759 by Towne, Inc. of Appleton, and accepting the bid of $134,033 for heating and ventilating by the Clintonville firm, $84 less than the announced low bid of Towne, Inc.

Other low bids accepted Saturday include electrical, Newcomb Electric of Pardeeville, $82,863, and elevator, Otis Elevator Co. of Milwaukee, $12,300.

Two-Story Structure

The school will replace Longfellow School, which has been razed. The two-story structure is to be built from Rexford Elementary School to Eighth Street along South Clinton Avenue and then east on Eighth Street to the junior high school. Early planning of the board had been to build one phase before razing Longfellow School and complete the building after the razing. This was changed into one step.

Temporary classrooms have been secured at Christus Lutheran, Methodist, St. Martin Lutheran and St. Rose Catholic churches and the Masonic Temple in Clintonville and Zion Lutheran Church in Embarrass.

Wittenberg Board OKs Fifth-Year Pilot Science Course at High School

WITTENBERG — The board of education has authorized a fifth year science course.

Gordon H. Cowles, who teaches chemistry, physics and vocal music, will be the instructor. The course will consist of an electronics course prepared by De Vries Industries, Inc., Chicago.

Six students have signed up for the course. They have been studying basic electricity in preparation for the electronics course.

Approximately $2,500 was expended under the National Defense Federation Act for three complete sets of equipment, project class, dealing largely in speed.

which the students will work experimental work. The reason for choosing this course is the demand for persons interested in electronics.

The equipment consists of a vacuum tube power supply, storage space for components, circuit panels, a transistorized motor and an oscilloscope, which permits the students to observe wave patterns on a screen.

Students will learn to do schematic reading, recognize actual components by use, color and do advanced work in coding of electronic parts, and chemistry, physics, or biology must relate course and effect in a wide variety of circuits.

The course is intended to be a speed. Students will work at their own

Improving Educational Aids

Key members of the House of Representatives and the Senate have agreed upon major clauses in a new education bill which will make available for various purposes more than $640 million of federal funds. Several of the programs are precedent setting as far as the role of the federal government in education is concerned.

Although there still is opposition in the House, apparently a Teachers' Corps, first proposed by Senator Gaylord Nelson, will be created. Teachers recruited into the Corps will work in schools, particularly in low income areas, in an effort to raise the educational standards. Obviously money is not the only factor in the unfortunate fact that educational opportunities in the public schools vary widely. The demand of the local community is extremely important and this in part depends upon the attitudes of the parents toward education. As Dr. James Conant pointed out, schools in the slum areas are in serious trouble. The majority of the children may be apathetic because no one at home cares what they are learning. Others may use up their energy in trouble making. Good teachers stay away both because of low salaries and unpleasant teaching conditions. But because of the deprivation at home, the slum children are the very ones who need outstanding school opportunities and help.

The aim of the Teachers Corps program is to recruit outstanding teachers and use them in these deprived areas. Conceivably it could at least help to narrow the gap in quality between the poor, dull schools and the top level ones.

There also are two parts of the proposed new law which would make much more money available both to very low income students and those in middle income families. Outright scholarship aid would go to the poorer students with matching help from other sources also required. The better student would qualify for more financial help. Another part would enable students from middle income families earning under $15,000 to arrange long term loans with no interest during the school years. These students have been generally neglected in many scholarship and loan programs since they cannot be classified as deprived and yet the rising costs of college enact family hardships.

Is the amount of the proposed bill needed? It is more than twice as much as even President Johnson, with his current emphasis upon educational opportunities, requested. In states like Wisconsin, with ever-increasing loan and grant programs and an extensive effort by the State Department of Public Instruction to raise standards of all schools, it does not seem like a drastic need. But even though the states which will benefit the most are those which have dragged their feet over the years, education is a national problem and in part can be handled on a national scale. There will be abuses, but in the long run money which is spent on opening doors for those seeking education, whether it is through better library facilities, better teaching or the means of reaching higher education can hardly be wasted.

Thumbs Down on Rhodesia

There is some amount of irony in the fact that the United Nations is actually opposing independence for a country still under colonial control. Certainly nothing like that has happened before in the international organization which has welcomed into its membership tiny countries with no more claim to nationhood than the decision of some of them to claim it. Particularly in Africa, nations have been arbitrarily set up, crossing tribal boundaries and establishing border disputes as soon as the new flags were flown. Has the U. N. learned a lesson from the too hasty freedoms given to such countries as the Congo?

Not exactly. The trouble with Southern Rhodesia's bid for independence is that it comes from the all-white government which intends to keep its rule exactly that. The some 250,000 whites in Southern Rhodesia who alone have voting rights, do not propose to offer equal rights to the several million blacks. Their model is the Republic of South Africa and they mightily approve of apartheid.

Great Britain, which still is technically in charge of Southern Rhodesia although much of its authority has been cut back, also strenuously opposes independence at this time. The British delegation to the United Nations has firmly insisted that the problem is purely a British one and not the business of the General Assembly. But the U.N. resolution opposing independence on the present terms of Southern Rhodesia and threatening to use firm measures surely was welcomed by England. It may in fact have been instrumental in slowing down the move toward a unilateral declaration by Rhodesia. The head of the government, Ian Smith, has since announced that he still intends to declare his nation's freedom and the severing of any umbilical cord to Great Britain but he has not set a date.

There may be a danger of civil war in Southern Rhodesia if the white regime slams the door to a gradual involvement in government affairs of blacks as Great Britain wants. It is more likely that the whites could maintain supremacy by force as they have done in South Africa. There is a chance of attack from outside, however. Several black African nations on the border or near Southern Rhodesia can be expected at least to harbor raiding parties. And a couple of them depend upon Southern Rhodesia for products and a sea port.

It is difficult for any nation in Africa to emerge without serious trouble from the centuries of white colonial control. Those who have made the biggest successes so far are those which accepted white help in working out their problems but maintained authority by blacks even though it was inexperienced and sometimes bungling. The recent conflict in the Congo whereby President Kasavubu tossed out Moise Tshombe, the only man who had brought any kind of harmony and order, is an example of the blindness caused by ambition which plagues men of all colors and races. There is no set rule for successful independence. But the circle only keeps going around when black abuses of power lead once more to white abuses such as is threatened in Southern Rhodesia.

'Gone to Heaven, En Masse'

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 21, 1865.

The editor of the Green Bay Advocate, who believes the Union party has outlived its usefulness, says:

"If ever a political party has gone to heaven, en masse, this one has done it."

"It has found a place for satisfying all creeds, and making them vote the same ticket. The philosopher's stone, and the perpetual motion, are mere bagatelle to this!"

"It is sort of a free-love arrangement, every man is at liberty to find his affinity without going out of bounds. Warren Chase would be in ecstasies with it. So also must be Spencer, Doubtless, the Madison Regency, Howe, Nagle, Berke, all hands on the Union ticket. Bargaining Practice Criticized by Teachers

Editor, Post-Crescent:

There is an element of dissatisfaction among many of the Appleton teaching staff concerning the effect of the school board practice of establishing their budget request based, in part, upon anticipated teacher welfare requirements prior to entering into or completing negotiations with the teachers. This, of course, automatically limits the funds available for salaries and other considerations, leaving only the distribution of the money to be considered in any negotiations. With due respect to the Board's interest in quality education, teachers assert that this does not permit a true bargaining situation.

This is considered a significant factor in the fact that Appleton teachers have not been receiving badly needed

Taylor Writes

Under Communism, Chiefs Have All, Ordinary People Nothing

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

It is very hard to see how the Communists make all that world-wide mileage with their guff about being interested in people: the meek of the earth they are always talking about, and all their phony bla, bla, bla that even some of our clergy seem to take seriously.

Taylor

I'm especially sensitive on this point, and especially astounded, just now, because I've recently come from the Communist world where the Red leaders have everything and the ordinary people absolutely nothing — including their dignity as human beings, by the way.

Take the case of Fidel Castro. The leaders in the European satellite countries where I've been express their anti-Americanism on the radio and in every other way by making an around-the-clock hero of Fidel Castro. "The man who makes a monkey of the Yankees," they bleat.

Now Castro is no better or worse than the rest of the bunch, including the leaders plotting against us in the Soviet Union and Red China, but his record in behalf of the working man is more available and, of course, closer to our shores.

Anyone wanting the simple and more realistic salary advances. These teachers are concerned because other Wisconsin cities, including most Fox Valley cities, are offering greater incentive to teachers than Appleton is providing.

It is common knowledge that in modern America quality education is directly related to the level of teachers' salaries. It is also well-known that major industrial firms consider the nature of local educational resources as a vital factor in determining new locations. It is obvious that teachers represent a key to economic and cultural development. Therefore, is it not reasonable that if Appleton is to retain and attract first-rate teachers, they must be realistic about the economics involved?

The rate of increase in teachers' salaries, about 4 per cent per year, is little more than cost-of-living consideration according to today's salary standards. If the level of a teacher's education and responsibilities is worth no more than this, education cannot avoid suffering serious consequences. Many excellent teachers continue to leave the profession because they are able to command greater incentive elsewhere. Teachers with families are generally unable to afford the economic and cultural advantages enjoyed by other educated persons.

It is time that people are made fully aware of the fact that the financial insecurity experienced by teachers is not conducive to high level professional performance or adequate involvement in community life.

facts, again including some of our clergy, need look no further away than Cuba to set themselves straight once and for all.

MIND OF A LYNX

"This is the dictatorship of the proletariat," Castro announced when he took over, this master of the people with the build of a westler and the mind of a lynx. The people, the people, the people. The regime is dedicated to the working man.

Well, there is an immense amount that was terribly wrong in Cuba but at least the working week had been 44 hours: time-and-a-half for overtime. And no one could work more than 48 hours.

Each worker was entitled to a month's vacation with pay, nine days sick leave (with pay), whether sick or not, and two afternoons off each week in June, July and August. Women were entitled to three months leave (with pay) if pregnant, along with free hospitalization and medical service.

The Workmen's Compensation Law assured an indemnity to everyone in case of injury and a pension in case of permanent disability. All, including professional workers, scholars, etc., were covered in laws providing old age retirement funds.

In spite of a great deal of poverty, the average standard of living was by far the highest in Latin America.

Castro, of course, abolished trade unions. He made the CTC (Confederation of Cuban Workers) a government agency. Its leaders, intensely anti-Communist, either were forced to flee, or were imprisoned or shot. Those remaining were put into military uniform. The right to strike was outlawed, as it is throughout the Communist world.

Castro called on all workers to renounce their hard-won social gains as being largely meaningless because "the workers are now in power."

NO OVERTIME PAY

Millions there now work more than 48 hours a week and there is no extra pay beyond 44. In fact by a Castro decree they're paid nothing at all for the extra hours. "In the dictatorship of the proletariat the proletariat must sacrifice for it," Castro explains.

As I reported from Europe's satellite countries, Communist block wardens are in command of the people's children and put them into the labor force. They are picked up by trucks and vans to cut cane after school in the daytime and often at night.

The party's Central Labor Office assigns everybody's job and establishes all salaries. The higher range is about 200 pesos a month. The Cuban peso, previously pegged to and worth one U. S. dollar, is now worth approximately 14 cents. The 200 pesos is equivalent to around 28 U. S. dollars a month. The work goes for nothing, as there is nothing to buy and nothing to buy it with.

Meanwhile, if your neighbor there does not like you his word may kill you. The police arms devour the dissenters; 50,000 political prisoners are in jail or dead.

If you can explain how anybody in our country can kiss off these famous truths, please let me know.

Borrowing to Acquire, Develop Recreational Acreage Seems Likely

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — No one who observes even casually the mobility of the American people and the increasing use of the Wisconsin outdoors should be surprised that the idea of acquiring vast sections of the native landscape for public use has emerged as one of the major bipartisan objectives of Wisconsin government.

Wyngaard

If there is any dispute among legislators and others about the matter, it is in detail, including the vital detail about the emphasis that should be given an acquisition and development. Contemporary legislative Democrats are suspicious of the demands for some investment in current improvements to put the huge acreages already held by the state to use. They reflect the leadership of Sen. Gaylord Nelson. As governor he was the principal author of the so-called Outdoors Recreation Act which was intended to stimulate land buying by the state in anticipation of endlessly increasing pressures for outdoor recreational space on the part of a population of ever-increasing size and ever expanding leisure.

KNOWLES' COMPROMISE

Now Gov. Knowles has offered what is, in effect, a compromise between the two viewpoints by calling for some long-term borrowing to supplement each receipts of the ORA.

By some borrowing, the governor says, the state will be able to double its current development and improvement work on recreational lands while increasing the pace of necessary acquisition at the same time. The outlook is for fairly easy acceptance of his plan, unless the desire of legislators to cut short the fall session for reasons of their own convenience intervenes. In any event, it is reasonably sure that some such modification of the original Nelson 10-year plan will be enacted soon.

It may be deduced that one of the reasons why there is increasing public demand for further recreational land buying is the lack of public appreciation of the huge acreages already taken over for state ownership and use. The fact of such ownership is not widely known because the state has done nothing on most of these newly acquired lands to develop them or make them known to the public for whom benefit they were bought or leased. As the governor put it, a campsite is worthless without some minimum facilities, for the public tastes of 1965, at any rate. Park lands also need development.

NOW OWNED

Public recreational land ownership will probably surprise many persons to whom the statistics have not been told. For example, the Conservation Commission has acquired more than 150,000 acres, out of its regular budget and the new ORA funds, since the latter law was enacted five years ago. But these are only fragments of the total of land available for public use.

Perhaps more startling is the fact that the total of land ownerships of the conservation administration, in areas formally designated as parks, fish and game lands, state forests and the rest, is now approaching three-quarters of a million acres. Scarcely remembered is the fact that there remain about 140,000 acres of forest lands owned by the commissioners of public lands, all of them available for public use. There are about 1.5 million acres of federal forests in the state, with substantial recreational facilities. Counties have 2.25 million acres of county forests, now increasingly being managed with a consideration of the public recreational interest.

The bulk of such lands are fairly remote from the centers of population, however, that was the meaning of the recent Conservation Commission declaration — echoed by Gov. Knowles — that the force of the acquisition program in the future should not be the purchase of miscellaneous additional acreage, but acreage that will be of most value in accessibility terms to the population centers of Wisconsin.

Meaning of Medical Terms Often Changed

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A psychiatrist friend the other night was protesting against the misuse and vulgarization of Freudian terms in ordinary speech. "I don't mind the public using jargon," he said, "but why must people invariably change the meaning so that it makes little sense?"

Harris

This, I suppose, is the way in which language is shaped. In our time, it is the Freudian vocabulary that is distorted; before then, even ordinary medical terms were wrenched out of context and made to mean what people wanted them to mean.

Consider some words we use nearly every day — words like "lucid" and "hectic" and "chronic" and "allergic" and "contagious" and "unfettered." Almost none of them is nowadays used in its original sense. Indeed, the original sense has never been known except to medical specialists.

"Lucid," for instance, has utterly changed its color. When we say, "He got lucid with anger," most of us visualize someone getting red or purple in the face, actually, "lucid" means getting paler, a sort of ashy gray or bluish leaden color. What we are thinking of when we say "lucid" is "apoplectic," an old-fashioned medical word that is scarcely used any more.

"I had a hectic day at the office," bears absolutely no resemblance to the medical origin of the word. It comes from the Greek "habit," and meant the kind of flush that consumptives have, as distinct from ordinary flushing and blushing. A "hectic fever" in the 19th Century was reserved to indicate tubercular patients, and that was all.

"Chronic" was originally opposed to "acute" in describing a disease or ailment; a chronic ailment was one lasting a long time. Today, however, we use chronic in the sense of "bad" or "severe" or "intense," which is a vulgar blunting of a useful term.

The latest of these medical popularizations, of course, is "allergic," which has come to fill a genuine need in the language. "I am allergic to him" is a succinct way of expressing a feeling, even though it has little to do with the dictionary definition of "sensitivity to generally harmless substances, such as foods, poisons, etc., which results in dermatological or respiratory symptoms of discomfort."

In the Freudian realm, we call people "sadists" and "masochists" who are neither; we label as a "complex" what is not; we give "repression" a meaning wholly at variance with Freud's; we speak of "fixation" and "introverts" and "trauma" with no idea of their precise meaning. And we will keep on doing so, despite the protestations of scientists and the sneers of semanticists. In language, we are all Humpy-Dumptyes.

Bureaucratic Pariah

The Senate rejected a proposal that Sargent Shriver be required to resign either as head of the anti-poverty program or of the Peace Corps, but there are no doubts many people in Washington who think that doing the work of two jobs is unorthodox and heretical and brands a person as a bureaucracy pariah—Arkansas Gazette.

Something a crook would not be the staggering sum of $1 billion likely to permit.

In addition, law enforcement agencies urge retailers to follow these basic guides:

Don't assume a driver's license or a credit card is foolproof identification. Such documents can be forged with relative ease and many crooks carry impressive appearing credentials anyway.

Don't assume that a payroll check bearing the name of a well-known local employer is necessarily a bona fide check. Such checks can be printed up and filled in with a checkwriter owned by the crook.

Don't assume that an unassuming is among the most lucrative crimes today. A professional with no more equipment than a pen, a sheaf of blank checks and a convincing line of patter can reap a ve-figure yearly income at this raked trade.

A second factor is the protective camouflage of the soaring volume of legitimate check cashing today. We now write 16 million checks a year. Paying by check at stores has become a routine, commonplace customer service.

A third factor is that it is a costly, time-consuming task to rack down a bad check passer — and many retailers prefer to accept a small loss rather than take the matter to court. Forever, says the FBI, the staller is up against a "suave, intelligent, hard-working perfectionist who leaves few traces and is frequently harder to

Analyze Stone
The stone used to weight the body is being analyzed by the State Crime Laboratory, as are the bands and cloth used for binding.

Officers are combing the scene for other traces of the cloth and for spots where stones had been removed from the shoreline.

Whether the body was placed into the water at the scene or if it had washed up to the shore undetermined. Lt. Guenther said the water was about four feet deep where the body was found and reefs farther out are as shallow as two feet.

Taken to Milwaukee
The body, spotted by a fisherman about 1 p.m. Saturday at the breakwater, was taken to Milwaukee Sunday for the autopsy as pathologists were not available locally.

Harold Arentson, Oshkosh symphony director, spotted the head in the water while trolling for fish with his son James. He contacted the Naval Reserve Unit who in turn called the Oshkosh Fire Department who recovered the body and first noticed the bindings and stone on the victim.

The investigation has been by priests and nuns. Father Bleidorn said the priests had not received such an order in a formal directive and felt free to participate personally.

Bishop Atkieski did not elaborate on the broader possible ban in his address to 250 worshippers at St. Sebastian church Sunday night, but did say, "I am not rescinding these statements."

"We preach obedience and observance of the laws as they are made," the bishop said.

After the services, approximately 65 pickets marched for an hour outside the church and the adjacent rectory where the bishop lives. They carried signs supporting the boycott. William Connolly, 38, Milwaukee, identified himself and the others as Catholics.

Largest Sect
Catholics form the largest religious denomination in this city of 765,000 people, about 10 percent of whom are Negro.

The bishop's first formal directive against parish participation was issued Friday and quoted Dist. Atty. Hugh R. O'Connell as saying a boycott would violate Wisconsin's compulsory school attendance laws.

About 50 priests and nuns from the four parishes issued a statement Saturday night saying they disagreed with the bishop's interpretation on the legality of the protest.

The statement announcing plans then to go ahead with "freedom schools" the churches argued "Christ's call, coming to us through his poor creatures, requires us to act" in disregard of the bishop's instructions.

Priests Barred

But after a telephone call from the chancery Sunday, the priests said they had been barred specifically from using church facilities in the boycott.

"Therefore, since the prohibition has now become a specific command of religious authority as such and its violation interpreted as a direct defiance of ecclesiastical authority, we submit in obedience to the command of the bishop," a statement from three of the parishes said.

Father Michael T. Neuberger of St. Boniface Church said, "No vow of obedience in the church obliges a man to go against his conscience. You will notice that our decision to obey Bishop Atkieski's order was made on prudential grounds, not on moral grounds. We are obeying under protest."

Moors Searched For Victims of Mass Murderer

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Scores of police began searching the desolate Pennine Moors at dawn today for the victims of a mass killer.

Detectives said they believe as many as 8 and perhaps 11 missing persons, three of them children, lie buried in shallow graves on the wild moors along the border between Yorkshire and Lancashire.

During the weekend, after searching six days, they found the dismembered body of Lesley Ann Downey, 10, near a main road between Ashton-under-Lyne and Huddersfield.

"We are certain that more bodies will be found, possibly in the next few days," said a senior police officer. "Everything points to this from the information we have so far gathered."

Lesley disappeared last Dec. 26 after visiting a Christmas fair near her Manchester home.

Demonstration Promoters Are Pleased With Weekend

Foreign Wars threatened to make a citizen arrest of David Miller, 22, of Syracuse, N.Y., who publicly burned his draft card during a demonstration in New York.

Destruction of draft cards has been made a federal violation.

The VFW commander, Vincent J. DiMatina of Brooklyn, said if Miller was allowed to go free "we are allowing the seeds of dissension to be sown in the midst of Americans."

Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles, commenting Sunday on the arrest Saturday of 11 demonstrators at the gates of Trux Air Force Base, Madison, as they attempted a citizen arrest of the base commander, E. Dewey, supported President John F. Kennedy's Viet Nam policy, done a great disservice to themselves, the University of Wisconsin and the state.

Authorities said Knowles "cannot tolerate civil disobedience no matter what the professed cause may be."

In Philadelphia, about 40 members of the Lansdowne-Stratford, I think they have got a Yearbook Junior Chamber of Commerce, held a one-hour "prayer march" around City Hall in defense of U.S. policy in Viet Nam Sunday.

The march followed two days of anti-U.S. policy demonstrations and counter-picketing at 200 Pennsylvania, and a Boeing Co. plant in Morton, Pa., where some of the helicopters used in the Viet Nam are manufactured.

In San Rafael, Calif., Fred Ullner, national director of the Veterans for Conservative Action, said he finds "a rising tide of objections to these demonstrations. The consensus is that many demonstrators are not simply peaceful protestors but a part of the other side. One gentleman told me the demonstrators might as well have worn Viet Cong uniforms."

Show Support
Jerry Rubin, spokesman for the Viet Nam Day Committee, contended the demonstrations "showed that support for the movement against the war has increased considerably."

Saying that "we plan to come back on Nov. 6 or 13th with a national march on Oakland," Rubin added: "This time we'll bring such political pressure that we will be allowed to march."

On Friday and Saturday, Oakland police presented a solid group of demonstrators, some of whom were wearing Viet Cong uniforms, which are advocated by the demonstrators, eating appeasement and a no-win parade goal was the Oak-

Might Have Used Nuclear Arms in Korea

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) —

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States hinted to Communist China toward the end of the Korean War that it would use nuclear weapons if necessary.

China got the hint and an armistice was reached, Eisenhower said in an interview recorded last week and broadcast Sunday on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Two

middle-aged sisters whose bodies were found in an attic two days after they disappeared apparently took their own lives, authorities said Sunday.

The women were Mrs. Anne C. Marshall, 48, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Pauline L. Kalmbach, 43, Whitefish Bay, wife of the board chairman of a publishing firm.

Mrs. Marshall's husband, Duane, said he found a note Friday night reading: "Thank you for everything." He notified police Saturday. The bodies were found Sunday in the attic of the Marshall home.

Asst. Medical Examiner Helen Young called the deaths "apparent suicide." She said she found evidence the women had taken a drug.

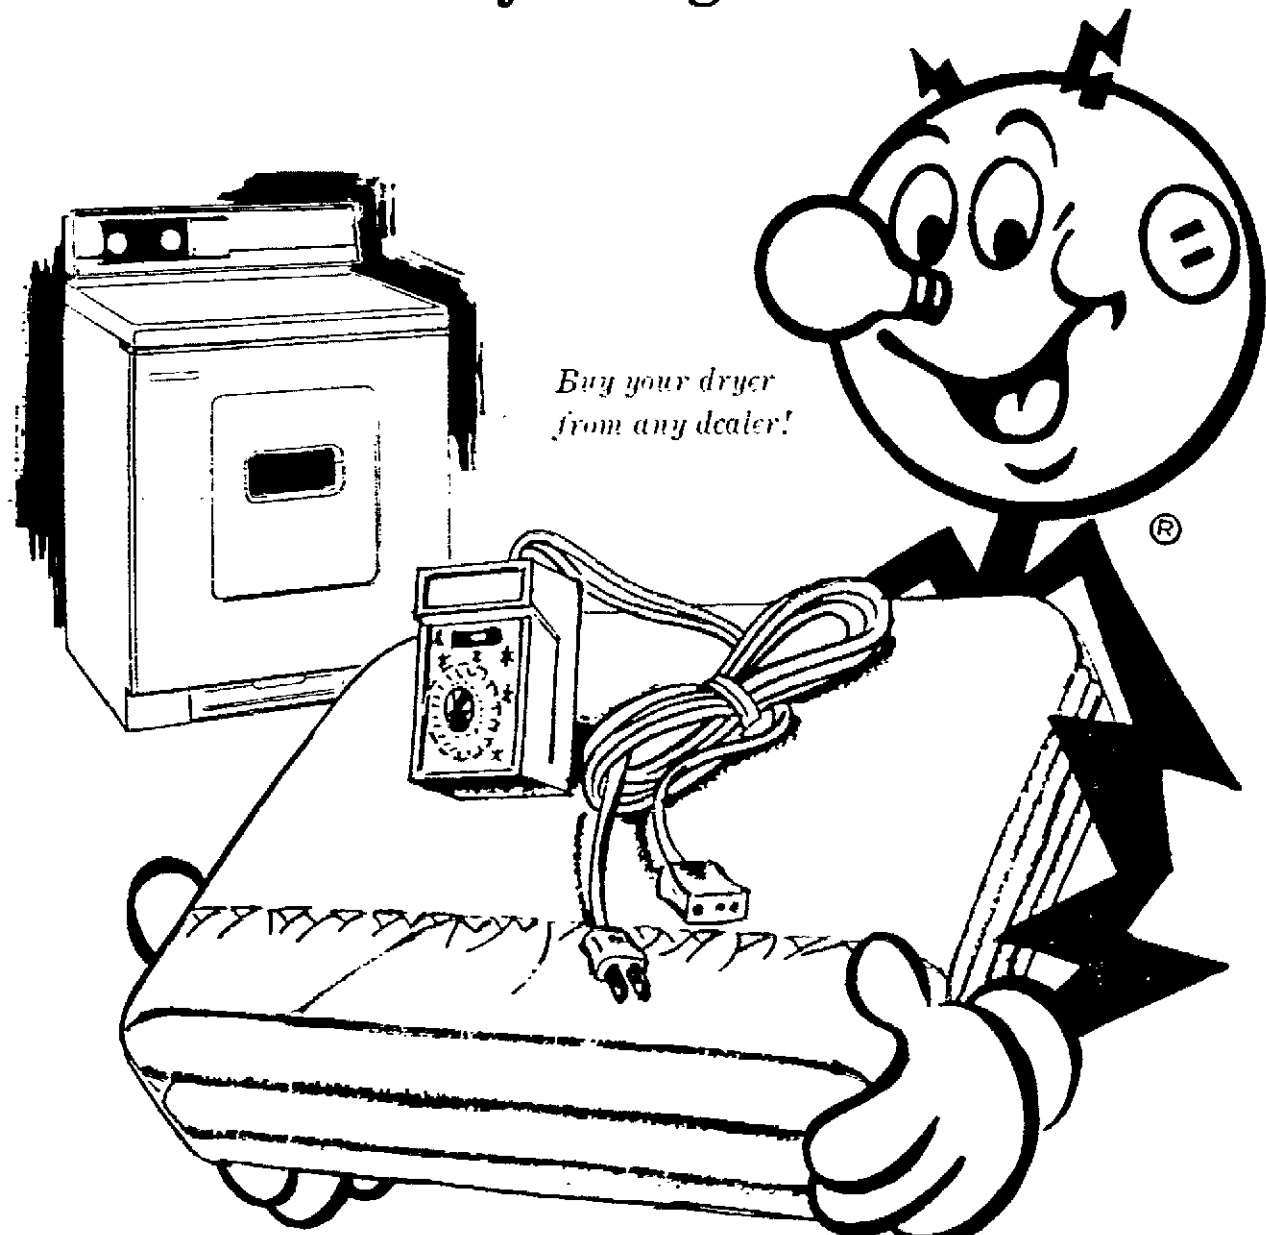

Industrial Commission Director Dies at 86

MADISON (AP) — Funeral services will be Tuesday for Miss Maud Swett, 86, a director of Wisconsin Industrial Commission's woman and child labor division for 36 years.

Miss Swett died Saturday. She had worked for the commission from its creation in 1911 until her retirement in 1956.

Most Brilliant Comet of Century Will 'Graze' Sun

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent News Service

Grandpa and Grandma sparkled in the light of Halley's comet, but youngsters in this discotheque age will have a far better and brighter excuse for night-time excursions.

What has been predicted to be the most brilliant comet of the century, so bright that it may possibly be seen in the day time, is fast approaching the sun and may now be seen by the naked eyes of the intrepid searcher.

Now a moderately bright object about equal in brilliance to the stars of the Big Dipper. Comet Ikeya-Seki rises about an hour before the sun. Next Thursday this comet, first seen just a few weeks ago, will "graze" the solar surface and thin gases are heated to a temperature of a million degrees or more. At closest approach, the comet will be traveling at a speed of a million miles per hour.

The last member of the sun-grazing comet family was visible in 1945, and the comet was not nearly as bright as Ikeya-Seki may become. The one years and, when sketched, looks prior to the last was visible like a huge football. Comet in 1882, and astronomy and the Ikeya-Seki, never before seen by scientific equipment used to study the makeup of the heavens have advanced greatly since that time.

Bright the comet will be. It frozen cosmic junkpiles of gravel, ice, gases and water. These are remnants of the solar system, and at times may be seen in daylight by the sharp-eyed to searcher. Predictions have been made that Ikeya-Seki will be 200 times brighter than Halley's comet last seen in 1910.

Comet Ikeya-Seki is not the same body as Halley's comet, which is due back in 1985. But they are similar in make-up, if not in habits.

Both comets have heads, that

The Comet Ikeya-Seki shows a tail about 4 million miles long in this photo released by Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., and made at its station in Woomera, Australia, Oct. 2. The head or coma, of glowing gas shown is many thousands of miles across although the nucleus or core may be only a mile or two in diameter. Comet is moving to left and tail always streams away from the sun. It is believed formed of particles forced away by solar radiation as comet's icelike mass starts to melt. Tail is expected to be most spectacular on Wednesday night and Thursday morning when the comet may orbit within 300,000 miles of the sun's surface. (AP Wirephoto) will pass through that portion for all but a very brief portion of their lives are all that exist of the travelers. Circling the sun in clearly defined elliptical orbits that range from almost circular to almost parabolic, comets return to the area of the sun at periodic intervals ranging from a few to millions of years. Halley's comet has an orbit that brings it back to the vicinity of the sun every 76 years. The one years and, when sketched, looks prior to the last was visible like a huge football. Comet in 1882, and astronomy and the Ikeya-Seki, never before seen by scientific equipment used to study the makeup of the heavens have advanced greatly since that time.

Bright the comet will be. It frozen cosmic junkpiles of gravel, ice, gases and water. These are remnants of the solar system, and at times may be seen in daylight by the sharp-eyed to searcher. Predictions have been made that Ikeya-Seki will be 200 times brighter than Halley's comet last seen in 1910.

Comet Ikeya-Seki is not the same body as Halley's comet, which is due back in 1985. But they are similar in make-up, if not in habits.

Both comets have heads, that them. Gases long frozen into a compact mass, along with gravel and snow, sublimate and then in a less dense form are pushed away from the comet and the sun by the pressure of solar energy and particles coming from the sun, as well as friction caused by gases in space.

The gases, freed from the head reflect sunlight and are seen from earth by watching man. The head appears to be a bright nucleus, a star-like spot of light leading the comet, and the tail stretches out behind, pointing away from the sun.

The brightness of the comet depends upon several factors, including the size of the object in real terms, and the nearness of its approach to the sun.

Comet Ikeya-Seki is coming close to the sun, and this will appear extremely bright to earthbound observers. There may be another chance to see such a sight in this generation.

Wears Itself Out

After many revolutions about the sun, the comet literally wears itself out. Each time it approaches the sun more matter is thrown off into space and is lost to the head. The head gets smaller. Eventually there is nothing left but the pack of gravel that was frozen into the snow and gases. These are spread out around the orbit of the comet, and become the meteor showers that amaze men when the tiny bits of sand and pebbled particles of rock are swept into the earth's atmosphere to burn in a flash miles above its surface.

The comets are not meteors, but a meteor at one time may have been a part of a comet.

Comets, such as Ikeya-Seki and Halley's have been observed throughout history. Seen prior to the Battle of Hastings in 1066, a comet was taken by the English to be an omen of disaster and by the Normans as the symbol of good fortune on the battlefield.

Some historians and scientists feel it was a comet that was followed by the wise men to the birthplace of Jesus.

And among the earliest astronomical recordings made are depictions of comets thousands of years old, made shortly after pre-historic man recognized the strange nature of the sun, moon and planets.

Man no longer foretells the coming events by the passage of comets as did the ancients. Scientists now study, analyze and all but dissect them. Man still stands beneath the sky and watches comets pass in wonder, although he has given up predicting the future.

But in tiny Sikkim in the Himalayan mountains, where Communist Chinese troops are massed on almost unprotected borders, there is an old adage. "Trouble in Sikkim," it seems, "is as rare as a comet in mid-day."

Perhaps Ikeya-Seki may be seen in the daylight sky after the sun's solar energy bombard-

Photographing Brightest Comet of Century Is Snap

Want to photograph the such a venture, but it is not brightest comet of the century? absolutely essential.

Getting good pictures of this cosmic wonder will be as easy as simply sitting in your backyard viewing it with field glasses — which you can do while taking the pictures.

All the equipment necessary is a camera, either 35 mm or box type, loaded with a medium speed black and white film or a high speed color slide film.

The camera must be equipped with a shutter that can be locked open for time exposures usually marked "T" on the shutter speed dial, or have "bulb" (marked "B") exposure control.

A tripod is a nice accessory in such a venture, but it is not absolutely essential.

Set the camera up away from city lights, if possible, in a completely unobstructed view of the comet is in sight—it will be hard to miss it the next few mornings before sunrise — wait until the comet has risen somewhat above the horizon, and the sky is still dark. With the camera distance scale (if it has one) set at infinity start an exposure, using the widest aperture opening possible on the camera.

15-Minute Exposure

Make the first exposure 15 minutes long and then close the shutter, wind the film, and

Bargain Hunters Flood World's Fair

Final Day Crowd Unlike Typical Tourists as Urgency Prevails

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Business Editor

NEW YORK — A cosmopolitan blend of a half million people flooded into Flushing Meadows here Sunday to transform the final day of the World's Fair into a bustling crowd of bargain hunters. The Sunday fair crowd was different from the typical members of the closing day crowds that sent the attendance throughs had one thing in mind: mark scoring to over fifty million people. One fair guide described it as "a sense of urgency. These people standing in line realize that if they don't see it today they'll never have the chance to see it again."

Lines of people waiting to get crack at this group. It was also the most popular exhibits a day when buyers had the stretched to lengths of a quarter mile, and at the exhibit where the animated Walt Disney characters performed their UNICEF childrens show people were lined up six abreast.

Bargain on Minds

While Sunday's crowds had more than the usual number of family groups, service men with their dates, and national and international tourists, most of the closing day crowds had one thing in mind: mark scoring to over fifty million people. One fair guide described it as "a sense of urgency. These people standing in line realize that if they don't see it today they'll never have the chance to see it again."

many people by allowing them to see the wonders of lands and areas, to be educated in some notable areas and to be truly inspired, such as the throngs were Sunday who streamed through the Vatican Pavilion to get one last look at the simple beauty and majesty of "the Pieta".

And lastly, New York will feel the effects of the end of another world's fair they already felt one year ago when the first year's operation caused it to end up in the red.

Fair expenditures were so heavy that 40 million visitors were considered the "magic number" for the break even point for one year's operations. Last year's crowds totaled 17.1 million. Final figures weren't available yet Sunday night, but the total two-year attendance was expected to fall slightly short of 31 million. Manhattan hotel attendance was expected to fall with an equal thud.

Science Shrinks Piles

New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

How come 900,000 people in Wisconsin are insured by Metropolitan Life?

Your neighbors have really hit on something. They've discovered that when it comes to planning for the future, the place to start is Metropolitan Life—the company with a practical insurance program designed for today's needs and for any and every situation, including yours. For example:

New—the policy that helps pay for itself

If there's one time you don't need any extra expense it's when you're just starting out—raising a family or opening a business. Yet this is precisely the time when you do need plenty of life insurance.

That's where Metropolitan's ingenious new Econo-Matic policy comes in.

The minimum initial amount is $10,000. For this amount, the premium is considerably less than that of our standard policy with a guaranteed face value of $10,000.

The ingenious feature is this: while the guaranteed amount of insurance is lower after two years, application of dividends*—if present levels are continued—will maintain the original amount of coverage for life, for the same low premium.

The Econo-Matic is just part of the up-to-the-minute selection of life and health insurance plans you'd expect from America's leading life insurance company.

Shouldn't you get all the facts and figures from your Metropolitan adviser? He'll give you an enlightening Family Security Check-Up, to boot. Call him soon. Tomorrow, for instance.

There's no obligation... except to those you love.

More choose Metropolitan Life
millions more than any other company

There are many reasons why Metropolitan Life insures 45,000,000 people—more than any other company. One good reason is local, personal service from the Metropolitan advisers at your nearest office:
